PENNSYLVANIA AND MICHIGAN TIMBER BURNS

Conflagration In Many Sections of Keystone State Does Heavy Damage to Property: Towns In Path of Blaze Have Close Call.

THOUSANDS OF ACRES IN MOUNTAINS LAID WASTE

Swath Mile Wide and Eight Miles Long Destroyed As Blaze Rages In Woods Near Pullman. Mich.. Levelling Homes and Out Buildings.

(Associated Press.)

PHILADELPHIA, April 21.—Forest fires, some of which had assumed serious aspects, were reported today from many sections of Pennsylvania. Hundreds of mine workers are fighting fires in the hard coal regions. Two fires at Hazelton appeared to be the most extensive, one of them having reached the city limits before it was turned back.

A fan house for supplying air for the mines of the Cranberry Creek Coal company was destroyed. Company officials caused the arrest of a resident. He is alleged to be of unsound mind and to have threatened to fire all the mountains in the Hazelton region.

Two Fires Reported.

Pottsville reported two fires, one on Broad mountain and the other south of Tremont. The Broad mountain blaze burned within one feet of the village of Brockton before it was diverted. Nearly 500 men, mostly miners, are battling the flames.

Over thousand acres of timber land were destroyed in the South mountains near Dillsburg, York county, last night.

Johnstown reports a fire which has burned over 20 acres and is spreading rapidly.

Fires in Michigan.

(International News Service.)

PULLMAN, Mich., April 21.—The ... serious forest fire ... has swept ... the second growth of Allegan county north of here and now threatens Bravo, with a population of 1,600.

Several small houses already have been destroyed and families in the burned area have had to scurry for shelter. The fire is said to be following in many places the right of way of the Pere Marquette railroad. It is not known what damage may have been done to the road.

Burn Since Tuesday.

The flames which started Tuesday a short distance from here have devastated an area a mile or more in width and are now at the outskirts of Bravo which is eight miles north of Pullman. The residents are preparing to evacuate it was reported from there early today.

The territory, old white pine country now covered with second growth and scrub oak, is sparsely settled.

The futility of attempting to fight the flames has been admitted and the only hope for Bravo lies, it is said in a possible change in the wind.

The sheriff's office at Allegan said today that so far as is known, no residents of the district have been injured. It was believed at Allegan that the comparatively small width of the area being burned will permit of easy escape to either side of the flame path.

Like Tinder Box.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., April 21.—Great forest fires are sweeping over this part of the state doing big damage to timberland. Rains for the last ten days have been very light and accumulations of dried leaves make the forest a last tinder box. State wardens are fighting the flames as soon as they appear but a new fire follows immediately the one extinguished.

FLORIDA PEONAGE CASE PROGRESSES

More Witnesses Will Tell Investigators of Convict Camp Flogging.

(International News Service.)

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., April 21.—Three witnesses who will tell of the condition of Martin Tabert's body, resembling its scars and sores with the intention of refuting testimony that the North Dakota lad died from pneumonia were ready to appear today before the legislative committee investigating convict treatment and peonage conditions in Florida camps.

Judge W. J. Kneeshaw and G. Grimson, Dakota attorneys, assisting in the probe, promised to produce other eye witnesses to the flogging of Tabert, his treatment during the subsequent illness and preparation of his body for burial.

Commenting on the letters of Amos Pinchot, New York philanthropist, members of the legislature expressed approval of Pinchot's attitude and the conviction that bills at present being enacted or being considered would erase the blot of convict cruelties from Florida.

Pinchot threatened a boycott of Florida by tourists and sportsmen if convictions were not made.

Grow Appeals to Supreme Court in Highlander Case

A. L. Grow has filed an appeal in the Nebraska supreme court from the decision of the Lancaster county district court denying his claim against the Royal Highlanders for the refund of alleged overcharges collected by it from himself and other members of the order.

Grow complained of the society's action in collecting increased rates under the 1919 schedule, which the court's held to be illegal, and alleged that subsequently it refused to refund the excess unless the members continued their monthly assessments on the 1922 scale, which is still higher than that of 1919.

DECISION SWATS KING HIGH COST

Farm Bloc Solons Say Way Open to Reducing Living Expenses.

High Court Ruling Makes Possible Further Legislative Acts. Senator Avers.

(International News Service.)

WASHINGTON, April 21.—A legislative pathway to a material reduction in the American high cost of living has been opened by the recent United States supreme court decision validating the grain futures act, it was announced today by congressional farm bloc leaders.

By slashing the middleman's profits and eliminating speculation, it was declared enforcement of the grain future act would ultimately bring a decline in retail prices. With this law, prohibiting grain speculation, a success, it is planned to extend the legislation to all other food products.

A series of bills, to bring the cotton, sugar and coffee exchanges under the same stringent government regulation, will be introduced in the next session of congress, the farm bloc leaders declared.

"Legislation will be sponsored in December to apply the law, just held constitutional by the supreme court, to cotton, coffee, and sugar exchanges," said Senator Ladd, republican, of North Dakota, a member of the farm bloc. "It will also be made to apply to all other exchanges dealing in a speculative way with food products.

"Ultimately, I am sure the elimination of speculation will cut down the middleman's profits and consequently in a reduction in the cost of living. This can be accomplished since the supreme court held that exchanges must recognize co-operative organizations as members.

"This part of the decision will eliminate the middleman's profits because the former will be enabled to sell his goods in the open market through his own organization."

Senator Fletcher, democrat, of Florida, ranking member of the farm bloc, shared Ladd's views. Fletcher predicted legislation would be introduced in December to curb speculation in all other farm products.

SOIL IS SOAKED BY SPRING RAIN

Moisture Comes Too Late to Save Much of the Dying Crop. Says Anderson.

Lincoln drew the lion's share of the Friday and Friday night rain that covered nearly all of the state and ended a period of extended drought which seriously damaged the winter wheat. The weather bureau reported 8 o'clock Saturday morning the following precipitation Lincoln 1.24, Omaha .96; Sioux City, Ia., 1.44, and Valentine .04. No moisture was reported from North Platte after 7 a. m. Friday, but .58 fell there previous to that time. By 7 p. m. Friday Lincoln had received .64 and Omaha .48.

The Burlington reports Saturday morning show a rainfall ranging from three-fourths of an inch to 2 inches on the roads east of Ravenna and Red Cloud. East of McCook and Kenesaw, including the Kansas branches, a precipitation from a third of an inch to 1 inch is reported.

Advices to the Lincoln Telephone company indicate a general rain over the entire state, and that east of Grand Island and Hastings it ranged from one to two inches.

The recent rain undoubtedly helped the winter wheat and oats to a large degree, according to A. E. Anderson of the federal division of agricultural statistics, but it was not timely enough to save much of the dying wheat. West of Hastings winter wheat is in an exceedingly bad condition and the wheat in the territory east of Hastings is noone too good. Mr Anderson stated. The high winds earlier in the week did untold damage to many fields by blowing the soil away from the roots and covering other plants. Farmers have already seeded many wheat fields to oats or barley, and others will be planted with corn. Mr Anderson states that the rain will put the soil in good condition for corn planting which will begin soon after the first of May.

Help Clay County Crops.

HARVARD, Neb., April 2.—Crops were greatly benefitted by a good rain which began early Friday morning after a high wind and driving storm had raged for the last two days.

Rain Breaks Drought.

GENEVA, Neb., April 21.—The drouth has been broken here by a steady rain which began early Friday morning. The moisture will save many fields of wheat in this county. Wheat in the vicinity of Geneva has been observed to be in better condition than other parts of Fillmore county.

Strong Winds Before Rain.

WILBER, Neb., April 21.—After three days of strong winds, Wilber and vicinity were relieved by a rain which began falling about seven o'clock Friday morning. This will be fine for the wheat which was beginning to need rain badly.

An Inch in Gage.

WYMORE, Neb., April 21.—A much needed rain fell here for three hours Friday forenoon, greatly benefiting growing crops, and, according to railway reports, extending generally over southeastern Nebraska and northern Kansas, settling a high wind which had prevailed over that territory for the past thirty hours. The fall measured one inch over southern Gage county, and at Hanover, Washington and Concordia, Kans., Superior, Edgar and Nelson report good rains. Guide Rock, Upland, Campbell and De Witt show hard rains for two hours. One-half inch fell at Pawnee, Auburn, Syracuse and Falls City.

HIGH TRIBUNAL RULING FAVORS GUSTIN FIRM

Supreme Court Affirms Judgment of $15.000 Against Defunct Building and Investment Company Dealing With Long Lease.

REFUSES TO ACT ON APPEAL OF SCHAAFS

Dismisses Plea for Change In $6.000 Judgment Obtained Against Frank E. and Gertrude A. Schaaf By W. E. Barkley.

Affirmance of the $15,000 judgment secured by E. E. Gustin and company of Lincoln against the defunct Nebraska Building and Investment company and its sureties, based on a 99-year lease contract for the use of real estate belonging to the Gustin firm has been pronounced by the Nebraska supreme court.

Under the contract between the two concerns, the Nebraska Building and Investment company agreed in February, 1919, to pay $250 a month rent on a piece of real estate adjoining the Lincoln hotel on the west. This ground was part of the site for the contemplated addition to the Lincoln hotel, which, according to the agreement, was to be completed by January 1, 1921. However, the building company became financially embarrassed and could not go ahead with the addition.

In the district court of Lancaster county the Gustin firm was awarded judgment for the entire amount it claimed for non-fulfillment of the contract, and this is upheld by the high bench.

Dismisses Schaaf's Appeal.

Without entering into the merits of the controversy, the supreme court has dismissed the appeal of Frank E. and Gertrude A. Schaaf from a $6,000 judgment obtained against them by W. E. Barkley as former receiver for the Nebraska Building and Investment company and the Nebraska Hotel company. It does this because the National Bank of Commerce, Lincoln, one of the parties directly interested, was not included in the legal proceeding.

This suit involved a $6,000 certificate of deposit in the bank, payable to Gertrude A. Schaaf. The receiver claimed the money actually belonged to the Nebraska Hotel company and that the Schaafs were seeking to convert it to their own use. The district court ordered it to be applied on a judgment against them and in favor of the hotel corporation, in another action.

Mrs. Lower Loses Suit.

Mrs. Ray A. Lower, wife of the convicted Valparaiso banker, is again unsuccessful in trying to establish her title to two lots in that town which she and her husband conveyed in October, 1919, to W. C. Elmelund and he in turn deeded over to the bank. She insisted that it was a regular sale of the real estate and that Elmelund was to pay $15,000, but never paid any part of that sum. Elmelund said he took the property to protect the bank on account of the misuse of its funds

MICHIGAN RIVERS ARE ON RAMPAGE

(International News Service.)

PETOSKEY, Mich., April 21.—Northern Michigan rivers are running wild, many districts are inundated and both rail and road traffic are halted or seriously threatened today by floods from the rapid melting of heavy winter snows. Damage is heavy.

Ice jams in the Ontonagon river were being blasted away at Ontonagon, Mich., in an effort to lower the flood which has covered the business district there with eighteen inches of water, the highest on record in forty years. Damage is estimated at many thousands of dollars. Rowboats were common on the streets last night, passing among huge ice blocks, rescuing persons trapped by the quick rise of the flood. Many workers routed from cellars and low buildings had narrow escapes. Forty-five cars of cinders are being hauled to replace washed out footings on the Michigan Central right-of-way at Sheboygan and Indian River in the Mullet Lake and Sturgeon River country, where the water in many places has reached the rail tops.

Floods have washed out 150 feet of Pennsylvania railroad track at Lakewood. Beaver island is isolated. At Alpena, bridges and roads are menaced by flood waters of Thunder Bay river and tributaries. Ice was dynamited at Fletcher Dam

REVISE LIST OF APPROPRIATIONS

Much Changed Bill to Be Reported Out By Senate Finance Committee.

Lincoln Institutions Favored—Code Departments to Be Provided For.

A substitute appropriation bill is being prepared by the senate finance committee. It will be printed and ready for presentation when the upper house convenes Tuesday afternoon. Several facts stand out prominently in reference to consideration of this most important measure.

The bill will undoubtedly be revised to care for almost all existing state activities. Recognizing the practical impossibility of securing any change in the code law this session, the committee plans to add items over Governor Bryan's budget, which was drawn to fit his governmental revision scheme. This means a three-fifths vote must be mustered in both branches.

The $40,000 addition for the railway commission which failed to pass in the house will probably not be added by the committee, but an effort will be made to insert this item from the floor.

The appropriation total will probably be boosted a cool $100,000 to aid in building the approach to the toll bridge at Yankton. The senate is expected to pass this item with little obj objection believing that the improvement to the Meridian road, part of the state highway system and the new railroad facilities made possible will greatly aid in developing northeastern and central Nebraska.

To Expand Local Institutions.

The committee favors a new Home for Dependent Children in Lincoln, and has decided to recommend an additional $60,000 for this purpose. Members of the board of control say they can build a four cottage unit on the outskirts of the city, near some school, and with necessary playgrounds and room for some agricultural training for this amount.

If this plan is carried out the Orthopedic hospital will expand into the old Home for Dependent Children at Eleventh and South streets. The hospital has a waiting list of twenty-five while the home is crowded. The hospital will lose a $17,000 item for repair work.

There is considerable sentiment in the upper house in favor of allowing the men's reformatory near Lincoln $100,000 for another building and giving the York women's reformatory $40,000 for the same purpose. The governor recommended the last item.

It seems to be an assured fact that much of the high school inspection work will be taken away from the university by failure to make appropriations. However an additional item of $10,000 for inspection of schools from the state superintendent's office is to be added.

Members of the committee form a powerful group, and will present a united front, it is generally conceded. Most of them are republicans—Reed, Anderson, Saunders, Bliss, Rickard, Ilham and Hastings, while two are democrats—Banning and Purcell. All are working together in the closest harmony.

Says U. S. Entry Into League Will Be Campaign Issue

"The paramount issue of the democratic party in next presidential election will be the entrance of the United States into the league of nations," said Captain F. P. Dolan of Omaha, in an address to the democratic noon luncheon club at a meeting held following a banquet Saturday noon at the Grand hotel. He asserted that the highest and best interest of this country today is in the reconstructive process of European nations. He predicted that the American people will wake up to this issue in the next election and that the democrats will go into power by a far larger majority than the republican party did in the last election.

Dan Strough who recently returned from St. Louis, Mo., gave a brief account of an address given there by an authority on European problems, in which he told of the rehabilitation of England, France, Germany and Italy.

An effort is being made to secure former Governor John H. Morehead to speak at the club next Saturday. It is being planned to continue these weekly meetings of the club throughout the summer months.

JURY STILL OUT

Up to an early hour Saturday afternoon the jury in the trial of District Juddge Stewart's appeal from the amount fixed upon his 160 acres of land in northwest Lincoln had not returned a verdict. The jury retired for deliberation Friday at 5:20 p. m. It is the jury's duty to fix an amount which it believes the city of Lincoln should pay for the property as of January 17, 1919, the date the land was condemned by the city for park and other municipal purposes.

SHOWERS FOOD ON HUNGRY ISLANDERS

Fox Island Woodcutters Eating Something Besides Bread and Blackstrap.

Chicago Tribune Reporter Drops Supplies From An Airplane Late Friday.

(Associated Press.)

NORTHPORT, Mich., April 21.—The woodcutters of South Fox island are eating something besides "bread and blackstrap" today.

Out of the sky, heralded only by the triumphant roar of an airplane motor, bags of food rained down through the bleakness of a late afternoon fog yesterday and were quickly retrieved and opened by the nine men and one woman of the marooned party.

Morrow Krum, Chicago Tribune reporter who was a passenger in the plane, said after the craft landed at Gaylord, Mich., last night:

"You should have seen them run out of their houses and pounce upon those bags of food."

Key to Efforts.

Northport has been the key point in the aerial effort to carry supplies to the islanders whose plight first became known Wednesday when three men reached here after a forty-eight hour battle to cross the eighteen miles from the island.

The plane which successfully landed supplies on the island and returned to the mainland, was piloted by Lieut. H. E. Woodridge, with Krum as passenger. A third Chicago plane, piloted by E. Hamilton Lee, of the mail service lost its bearings and landed at Charlevoix last night.

The planes of Lee and Woodridge were ready to fly to the island to bring the party of woodcutters to the mainland.

GERMANY READY WITH NEW OFFER

Will Make Proposal Reparations Payments Be 35 Billion Gold Marks.

(International News Service.)

BERLIN, April 21.—Following a meeting of the cabinet today, it was reliably reported that Germany will make a new reparations offer to the allied commission next week raising the offer they originally proposed from 30,000,000,000 gold marks to about 35,000,000,000 gold marks.

German officials hope their offer will be of such a nature as to induce Great Britain and Italy to ask evacuation of the Ruhr by the French and Belgian troops.

Germany maintains the attitude that an international loan is necessary to settle reparations accounts and that, in order to meet the loan, the Ruhr mines and industries must be returned.

Lord Curzon's speech in the British parliament yesterday was construed by the German cabinet as an invitation to Germany to make an offer. German newspapers, in commenting today upon the speech of the British foreign secretary, emphasized the point that Great Britain believes the time opportune for proposals. It is understood that the new offer will not be addressed solely to France, but will be in circular form, addressed to Great Britain, France, Italy and Belgium.

An international conference will be suggested.

Harding Advises Lad to Grow "Two Feet" Before Being Cop

YORK, Pa., April 21.—There are some things that even the president can't do, at least, and preserve the dignity of his high office. Walter Dickinson Hague, 7-year-old son of the Rev. Dr. Walter Dickinson Hague of York, learned this today and his prodding ambition to be a policeman went the way of most boyhood dreams.

The other day, when he was refused a job on the York force he resolved to appeal to a higher authority, his cousin. And in this case his cousin happened to be the president of the United States. President Harding replied promptly:

"Dear Walter: I am afraid the York authorities would be doubtful about the right to intrude in this matteer.

"I feel sure that a boy as big as you are x x x ought to be thoroughly competent, but it is a little hard to get the regulations in such matters waived.

"I think the best thing for you to do is to wait until you grow two feet taller and then you will probably be able to get on the force if you still want to do so."

Swath Mile Wide and Eight Miles Long Destroyed As Blaze Rages In Woods Near Pullman. Mich., Levelling Homes and Out Buildings.

PHILADELPHIA, April 21.—Forest fires, some of which had assumed serious aspects, were reported today from many sections of Pennsylvania. Hundreds of mine workers are fighting fires in the hard coal regions. Two fires at Hazelton appeared to be the most extensive, one of them having reached the city limits before it was turned back.

A fan house for supplying air for the mines of the Cranberry Creek Coal company was destroyed. Company officials caused the arrest of a resident. He is alleged to be of unsound mind and to have threatened to fire all the mountains in the Hazelton region.

Two Fires Reported.

Pottsville reported two fires, one on Broad mountain and the other south of Tremont. The Broad mountain blaze burned within 600 feet of the village of Brockton before it was diverted. Nearly 500 men, mostly miners, are battling the flames.

One thousand acres of timber land were destroyed in the South mountains near Dillsburg, York county, last night.

Johnstown reports a fire which has burned over 30 acres and is spreading rapidly.

Fires in Michigan.

(International News Service)

PULLMAN, Mich., April 21.—The most serious forest fire in many years has swept through the scrub oak and second growth of Allegan county, north of here, and now threatens Bravo, with a population of 2,600.

Several small homes already have been destroyed and families in the burned area have had to scurry for shelter. The fire is said to be following in many places the right of way of the Pere Marquette railroad. It is not known what damage may have been done to the road.

Burn Since Tuesday.

The flames which started Tuesday a short distance from here, have devastated an area a mile or more in width and are now at the outskirts of Bravo, which is eight miles north of Pullman. The residents are preparing to evacuate, it was reported from there early today.

The territory, old white pine country, now covered with second growth and scrub oak, is sparsely settled.

The futility of attempting to fight the flames has been admitted and the only hope for Bravo lies, it is said in a possible change in the wind.

The sheriff's office at Allegan said today that so far as is known, no residents of the district have been injured. It was believed at Allegan that the comparatively small width of the area being burned will permit of easy escape to either side of the flame path.

FLORIDA PEONAGE CASE PROGRESSES

More Witnesses Will Tell Investigators of Convict Camp Flogging.

(International News Service.)

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., April 21.—Three witnesses who will tell of the condition of Martin Tabert's body, describing its scars and sores with the intention of refuting testimony that the North Dakota lad died from pneumonia, were ready to appear today before the legislative committee investigating convict treatment and peonage conditions in Florida camps.

Judge W. J. Kneeshaw, and G. Grimson, Dakota attorney, assisting in the probe, promised to produce other eye witnesses to the flogging of Tabert, his treatment during the subsequent illness and preparation of his body for burial.

Commenting on the letters of Amos Pinchot, New York philanthropist, members of the legislature expressed approval of Pinchot's attitude and the conviction that bills at present being enacted or being considered would erase the blot of convict cruelties from Florida.

Pinchot threatened a boycott of Florida by tourists and sportsmen if convictions were not made.

A. D. Grow has filed an appeal in the Nebraska supreme court from the decision of the Lancaster county district court denying his claim against the Royal Highlanders for the refund of alleged overcharges elected by it from himself and other members of the order.

Grow complained of the society's action in collecting increased rates under the 1919 schedule, which the court's held to be illegal, and alleged that subsequently it refused to refund the excess unless the members continued their monthly assessments on the 1922 scale, which is still higher than that of 1919.

DECISION SWATS KING HIGH COST

Farm Bloc Solons Say Way Open to Reducing Living Expenses.

(International News Service.)

WASHINGTON, April 21.—A legislative pathway to a material reduction in the American high cost of living has been opened by the recent United States supreme court decision validating the grain futures act, it was announced today by congressional farm bloc leaders.

By slashing the middleman's profits and eliminating speculation, it was declared enforcement of the grain future act would ultimately bring a decline in reatil prices. With this law, prohibiting grain speculation, a success, it is planned to extend the legislation to all other food products.

A series of bills, to bring the cotton, sugar and coffee exchanges under the same stringent government regulation, will be introduced in the next session of congress, the farm bloc leaders declared.

"Legislation will be sponsored in December to apply the law, just held constitutional by the supreme court, to cotton, coffee, and sugar exchanges," said Senator Ladd, republican, of North Dakota, a member of the farm bloc. "It will also be made to apply to all other exchanges dealing in a speculative way with food products.

"Ultimately, I am sure the elimination of speculation will cut down the middleman's profits and consequently in a reduction in the cost of living. This can be accomplished since the supreme court held that exchanges must recognize co-operative organizations as members.

"This part of the decision will eliminate the middleman's profits because the former will be enabled to sell his goods in the open market through his own organization."

Senator Fletcher, democrat, of Florida, ranking member of the farm bloc, shared Ladd's views. Fletcher predicted legislation would be introduced in December to curb speculation in all other farm products.

SOIL IS SOAKED BY SPRING RAIN

Lincoln drew the lion's share of the Friday and Friday night rain that covered nearly all of the state and ended a period of extended drought which seriously damaged the winter wheat. The weather bureau reported 8 o'clock Saturday morning the following precipitation: Lincoln 1.24; Omaha .96; Sioux City, Ia., 1.44, and Valentine .04. No moisture was reported from North Platte after 7 a. m. Friday, but .48 fell there previous to that time. By 7 p. m. Friday Lincoln had received .64 and Omaha .48.

The Burlington reports Saturday morning show a rainfall ranging from three-fourths of an inch to 2 inches on the roads east of Ravenna and Red Cloud. East of McCook and Kenesaw, including the Kansas branches, a precipitation from a third of an inch to 1 inch is reported.

Advices to the Lincoln Telephone company indicate a general rain over the entire state, and that east of Grand Island and Hastings it ranged from one to two inches.

The recent rain undoubtedly helped the winter wheat and oats to a large degree, acording to A. E. Anderson of the federal division of agriculitural statistics, but it was not timely enough to save much of the dying wheat. West of Hastings winter wheat is in an exceedingly bad condition and the wheat in the territory east of Hastings is noone too good, Mr. Anderson stated. The high winds earlier in the week did untold damage to many fields by blowing the soil away from the roots and covering other plants. Farmers have already seeded many wheat fields to oats or barley, and others will be planted with corn. Mr. Anderson states that the rain will put the soil in good condition for corn planting which will begin soon after the first of May.

Help Clay County Crops.

HARVARD, Neb., April 2.—Crops were greatly benefitted by a good rain which began early Friday morning after a high wind and driving storm had raged for the last two days.

Rain Breaks Drought.

GENEVA, Neb., April 21.—The doruth has been broken here by a steady rain which began early Friday morning. The moisture will save many fields of wheat in this county. Wheat in the vicinity of Geneva has been observed to be in better condition than other parts of Fillmore county.

Strong Winds Before Rain.

WILBER, Neb., April 21.—After three days of strong winds, Wilber and vicinity were relieved by a rain which began falling about seven o'clock Friday morning. This will be fine for the wheat which was beginning to need rain badly.

An Inch in Gage.

WYMORE, Neb., April 21.—A much needed rain fell here for three hours Friday forenoon, greatly benefiting growing crops, and, according to railway reports, extending generally over southeastern Nebraska and northern Kansas, settling a high wind which had prevailed over that territory for the past thirty hours. The fall measured one inch over osuthern Gage county, and at Hanover, Washington and Concordia, Kans. Superior, Edgar and Nelson report good rains. Guide Rock, Upland, Campbell and De Witt show hard rains for two hours. One-half inch fell at Pawnee, Auburn, Syracuse and Falls City.

HIGH TRIBUNAL RULING FAVORS GUSTIN FIRM

Supreme Court Affirms Judgment of $15,000 Against Defunct Building and Investment Company Dealing With Long Lease.

REFUSES TO ACT ON APPEAL OF SCHAAFS

Dismisses Plea for Change In $6,000 Judgment Obtained Against Frank E. and Gertrude A. Schaaf By W. E. Barkley.

Affirmance of the $15,000 judgment secured by E. E. Gustin and company of Lincoln against the defunct Nebraska Building and Investment company and its sureties, based on a 99-year lease contract for the use of real estate belonging to the Gustin firm, has been pronounced by the Nebraska supreme court.

Under the contract between the two concerns, the Nebraska Building and Investment company agreed in February, 1919, to pay $250 a month rent on a piece of real estate adjoining the Lincoln hotel on the west. This ground was part of the site for the contemplated addition to the Lincoln hotel, which, according to the agreement, was to be completed by January 1, 1921. However, the building company became financially embarrassed and could not go ahead with the addition.

In the district court of Lancaster county tthe Gustin firm was awarded judgment for the entire amount it claimed for non-fulfillment of the contract, and this is upheld by the high bench.

Dismisses Schaaf's Appeal.

Without entering into the merits of the controversy, the supreme court has dismissed the appeal of Frank E. and Gertrude A. Schaaf from a $6,000 judgment obtained against them by W. E. Barkley as former receiver for the Nebraska Building and Investment company and the Nebraska Hotel company. It does this because the National Bany of commerce, Lincoln, one of the parties directly interested, was not included in the legal proceeding.

This suit involved a $6,000 certificate of deposit in the bank, payable to Gertrude A. Schaaf. The receiver claimed the money actually belonged to the Nebraska Hotel company and that the Schaafs were seeking to convert it to their own use. The district court ordered it to be applied on a judgment against them and in favor of the hotel corporation, in another action.

Mrs. Lower Loses Suit.

Mrs. Ray A. Lower, wife of the convicted Valparaiso banker, is again unsuccessful in trying to establish her title to two lots in that town which she and her husband conveyed in October, 1919, to W. C. Elmelund and he in turn deeded over to the bank. She insisted that it was a regular sale of the real estate and that Elmelund was to pay $15,000, but never paid any part of that sum. Elmelnd said he took the property to protect the bank on account of the misuse of its funds

MICHIGAN RIVERS ARE ON RAMPAGE

(International News Service.)

PETOSKEY, Mich., April 21.—Northern Michigan rivers are running wild, many districts are inundated and both rail and road traffic are halted or seriously threatened today by floods from the rapid melting of heavy winter snows. Damage is heavy.

Ice jams in the Ontonagon river were being blasted away at Ontonagon, Mich., in an effort to lower the flood which has covered the business district there with eighteen inches of water, the highest on record in forty years. Damage is estimated at many thousands of dollars. Rowboats were common on the streets last night, passing among huge ice blocks, rescuing persons trapped by the quick rise of the flood. Many workers routed from cellars and low buildings had narrow escapes. Forty-five cars of cinders are being hauled to replace washed out footings on the Michigan Central right-of-way at Sheboygan and Indian River in the Mullet Lake and Sturgeon River country, where the water in many places has reached the rail tops.

Floods have washed out 150 feet of Pennsylvania railroad track at Lakewood. Beaver island is isolated. At Alpena, bridges and roads are menaced by flood waters of Thunder Bay river and tributaries. Ice was dynamited at Fletcher Dam.

REVISE LIST OF APPROPRIATIONS

Much Changed Bill to Be Reported Out By Senate Finance Committee.

Lincoln Institutions Favored —Code Departments to Be Provided For.

A substitute appropriation bill is being prepared by the senate finance committee. It will be printed and ready for presentation when the upper house convenes Tuesday afternoon. Several facts stand out prominently in reference to consideration of this most important measure.

The bill will undoubtedly be revised to care for almost all existing state activities. Recognizing the practical impossibility of securing any change in the code law this session, the committee plans to add items over Governor Bryan's budget, which was drawn to fit his governmental revision scheme. This means a three-fifths vote must be mustered in both branches.

The $40,000 addition for the railway commission which failed to pass in the house will probably not be added by the committee, but an effort will be made to insert this item from the floor.

The appropriation total will probably be boosted a cool $100,000 to aid in building the approach to the toll bridge at Yankton. The senate is expected to pass this item with little obj objection believing that the improvement to the Meridian road, part of the state highway system, and the new railroad facilities made possible will greatly aid in developing northeastern and central Nebraska.

To Expand Local Institutions.

The committee favors a new Home for Dependent Children in Lincoln, and has decided to recommend an additional $60,000 for this purpose. Members of the board of control say they can build a four cottage unit on the outskirts of the city, near some school, and with necessary playgrounds and room for some agricultural training for this amount.

If this plan is carried out the Orthopedic hospital will expand into the old Home for Dependent Children at Eleventh and South streets. The hospital has a waiting list of twenty-five, while the home is crowded. The hospital will lose a $17,000 item for repair work.

There is considerable sentiment in the upper house in favor of allowing the men's reformatory near Lincoln, $100,000 for another building and giving the York women's reformatory $40,000 for the same purpose. The governor recommended the last item.

It seems to be an assured fact that much of the high school inspection work will be taken away from the university by failure to make appropriations. However an additional item of $10,000 for inspection of schools from the state superintendent's office is to be added.

Members of the committee form a powerful group, and will present a united front, it is generally conceded. Most of them are republicans—Reed, Anderson, Saunders, Bliss, Rickard, Ilham and Hastings, while two are democrats—Banning and Purcell. All are working together in the closest harmony.

Says U. S. Entry Into League Will Be Campaign Issue

"The paramount issue of the democratic party in next presidential election will be the entrance of the United States into the league of nations," said Captain F. P. Dolan of Omaha, in an address to the democratic noon luncheon club, at a meeting held following a banquet Saturday noon at the Grand hotel. He asserted that the highest and best interest of this country today is in the reconstructive process of European nations. He predicted that the American people will wake up to this issue in the next electioo and that the democrats will go into power by a far larger majority than the republican pasty did in the last election.

Dan Strough who recently returned from St. Louis, Mo., gave a brief account of an address given there by an authority on European problems, in which he told of the rehabilitation of England, France, Germany and Italy.

An effort is being made to secure former Governor John H. Morehead to speak at the club next Saturday. It is being planned to continue these weekly meetings of the club throughout the summer months.

JURY STILL OUT

Up to an early hour Saturday afternoon the jury in the trial of District Juddge Stewart's appeal from the amount fixed upon his 160 acres of land in northwest Lincoln had not returned a verdict. The jury retired for deliberation Friday at 5:20 p. m. It is the jury's dutv to fix an amount which it believes the city of Lincoln should pay for the property as of January 17, 1919, the date the land was condemned by the city for park and other municipal purposes.

SHOWERS FOOD ON HUNGRY ISLANDERS

Chicago Tribune Reporter Drops Supplies From An Airplane Late Friday.

(Associated Press.)

NORTHPORT, Mich., April 21.—The woodcutters of South Fox Island are eating something besides "bread and blackstrap" today.

Out of the sky, heralded only by the triumphant roar of an airplane motor, bags of food rained down through the bleakness of a late afternoon fog yesterday and were quickly retrieved and opened by the nine men and one woman of the marooned party.

Morrow Krum, Chicago Tribune reporter who was a passenger in the plane, said after the craft landed at Gaylord, Mich., last night:

"You should have seen them run out of their houses and pounce upon those bags of food."

Key to Efforts.

Northport has been the key point in the aerial effort to carry supplies to the islanders whose plight first became known Wednesday when three men reached here after a forty-eight hour battle to cross the eighteen miles from the island.

The plane which successfully landed supplies on the island and returned to the mainland, was piloted by Lieut. H. E. Woodridge, with Krum as passenger. A third Chicago plane, piloted by E. Hamilton Lee, of the mail service, lost its bearings and landed at Charlevoix last night.

The planes of Lee and Woodridge were ready to fly to the island to bring the party of woodcutters to the mainland.

GERMANY READY WITH NEW OFFER

Will Make Proposal Reparations Payments Be 35 Billion Gold Marks.

(International News Service.)

BERLIN, April 21.—Following a meeting of the cabinet today, it was reliably reported that Germany will make a new reparations offer to the allied commission next week raising the offer they originally proposed from 30,000,000,000 gold marks to about 35,000,000,000 gold marks.

German officials hope heir offer will be of such a nature as to induce Great Britain and Italy to ask evacuation of the Ruhr by the French and Belgian troops.

Germany maintains the attitude that an international loan is necessary to settle reparations accounts and that, in order to meet the loan, the Ruhr mines and industries must be returned.

Lord Curzon's speech in the British parliament yesterday was construed by the German cabinet as an invitation to Germany to make an offer. German newspapers, in commenting today upon the speech of the British foreign secretary, emphasized the point that Great Britain believes the time opportune for proposals. It is understood that the new offer will not be addressed solely to France, but will be in circular form, addressed to Great Britain, France, Italy and Belgium.

An international conference will be suggested.

Harding Advises Lad to Grow "Two Feet" Before Being Cop

YORK, Pa., April 21.—There are some things that even the president can't do, at least, and preserve the dignity of his high office. Walter Dickinson Hague, 7-year-old son of the Rev. Dr. Walter Dickinson Hague of York, learned this today and his prodding ambition to be a policeman went the way of most boyhood dreams.

The other day, when he was refused a job on the York force he resolved to appeal to a higher authority, his cousin. And in this case his cousin happened to be the president of the United States. President Harding replied promptly:

"Dear Walter: I am afraid the York authorities would be doubtful about the right to intrude in this matteer.

"I feel sure that a boy as big as you are x x x ought to be thoroughly competent, but it is a little hard to get the regulations in such matters waived.

"I think the best thing for you to do is to wait until you grow two feet taller and then you will probably be able to get on the force if you still want to do so."

NO CHARGE FOR TREES PLANTED

Mayor Zehrung Keeps Busy Answering Queries Of Property Owners.

A number of queries at the office of Mayor Zehrung by telephone have brought information to the city hall that a report is broadcast that the city is charging for the trees it plants along the curb spaces in the streets.

The usual question is generally worded, "Is it true that the city charges $4.50 for every tree it plants in the crub space between the sidewalks and the streets?"

It is not true. Mayor Zehrung has assured those who called him that the city makes no charge whatever for taking out old, crippled or undesirable trees from the curb spaces or for planting new ones there. The city does not plant trees for individuals inside the lot line and consequently does no planting for money as indicated by the inquiries.

City Takes Over Control.

Some years ago the city by ordinance took over complete control of all the space between the lot line and the curb, which is in reality a part of the street. It then worked out a plan of general beautification, which, with the assistance of experts, is expected to show to much advantage as the years pass.

Since last fall the city has planted free of all charges more than 2 000 trees, mostly in curb spaces. About 200 to 300 more will be planted this spring and next fall the work will be repeated. This is all done by the park department under Mayor Zehrung at the present time and is never charged against the property owner whose property is benefited. It is done as a work of public benefit for public beautification of the city and on the street property, which is of course, owned by the city.

CLAIM DAMAGES AGAINST ESTATE

Mr. and Mrs. Randall, Injured In Auto Accident, Seek to Recover $2,974.80.

Two claims, one by Laura E. Randall for $2,000, and the other by her husband, Leadore I. Randall, for $974.80, were filed in county court Saturday against the estate of the late Rev. Father Robert E. Moran, who died of injuries received in an automobile collision. The accident occurred at Sixteenth and D streets, November 23, last.

Mr. and Mrs. Randall were going north on South Sixteenth streets in a Ford sedan. Father Moran approached the intersection from the west on D streets in a Buick roadster. Mr. Randall states he was not operating his car to exceed fifteen or eighteen miles an hour and that Father Moran was traveling "approximately thirty-five miles an hour." Father Moran's car struck the Randall car, it is declared. Both cars were hurled several feet against the curbing and completely overturned. Father Moran is blamed by the Randalls for the accident which resulted in his death a few days later.

Mrs. Randall says she was injured in her neck and shoulders and received severe bruises. Mr. Randall bases his claim on damages to his car, medical expenditures and other items.

UNIVERSITY GLEE CLUB IN CONCERT

Pleasing Program is Given at Temple Theatre Friday Evening.

One of the heaviest numbers of the program was "Drontheim" (St. Olaf's Christmas), given by the Glee club. This was followed by a baritone solo "Morning" Speaks, sung by Archie N. Jones. Mr. Jones responded with "You'd Better Ask Me" from "Two Little Irish Songs," and was recalled the second time.

"The Spirit Flower" sung by Parvin C. Witte, was one of the fine numbers on the program. Mr. Witte responded with an Irish folk song as an encore.

Following the last group of songs, the Glee club sang the University of Nebraska chant, and gave the old "U-U-Uni" obth received with great enthusiasm by the audience.

TURN DOWN EXTRA SALARY PROPOSAL

House Rejects Bill Compensating Lieutenant Governor For Added Duties.

Adopt Amendment to Place Four Farmers On State School Commission.

No extra pay for the lieutenant governor when filling the governor's place during the latter's absence from the state or disability is favored by the state representative diet. The senate bill allowing the acting governor to draw pay for time so served, at the same rate as the governor himself receives, was put to death in committee of the whole Friday afternoon.

Mr. Garber offered an amendment limiting the lieutenant governor to twenty days' pay in any one year, except in case of "physical or mental disability" of the governor. But the house was opposed to paying the lieutenant governor anything at all mor than the $1,600 he receives during a legislative session, and on Mr. Hall's motion it sent the bill to the cemetery.

Farmers on School Commission.

To make sure that the proposed state school commission would not fall under the control of educators the bill providing for it was amended on motion of C. L. Yochum, one of the introducers, so as to cut out the provision for two of the six members to be school men and have four farmers appointed on it, with two business or professional men. Mr. Yochum explained that as the commission would interview and receive suggestions from many educators, it would get their views and ideas anyway.

The commission is to be named by the governor and will choose its own chairman and secretary. It is to investigate and recommend features of a reorganized school system for Nebraska, with revised courses of study. The bill was advanced to third reading.

Telephone Bill Approved.

The bill giving the railway commission authority to apportion toll receipts of connecting telephone companies handled over their joint lines, where the companies themselves can not agree, was approved for passage.

Similar action was taken upon a bill to give newspaper publishers in cities of 5,000 to 25,000 population the same rates for publishing proceedings of the city council as are provided by law for legal publications elsewhere.

Ostermau, Hughes and Keifer were appointed as a conference committee to insist on the senate receding from its proposal that owners of individual herds be allowed to come under the bill in counties where compulsory testing is not practiced.

Adjourns Until Tuesday.

The house first voted to hold a Saturday sesion, but on learning that the senate had adjourned over until Tuesday at 2 p. m., it changed its mind and decided to do the same.

BILL TO REVISE COUNTRY SCHOOL SYSTEM FAVORED

Senate Recommends Reed-Rickard-Smrha Measure For Final Passage Friday.

Reduced Freight Rate Bill Is Slaughtered—Upper House to Convene Tuesday.

The senate, in the Friday afternoon session, killed S. F. 260, Rickard's freight rate reducing bill; passed the county area tuberculosis eradication measure, and sent the Reed-Rickard-Smrha school bill ahead to third reading.

The original program was to adjourn early in the afternoon until Monday, to give the finance committee time to work out the appropriation bill. Because of Arbor day, the upper house will meet at 2 p. m. Tuesday, when the appropriation bill will be presented.

S. F. 260 provided for a flat reduction of 15 per cent in freight rates on car load lots, subject to later adjustment by he railway commission. The vote to kill was 13 to 10.

Confers on T. B. Measure.

The rewritten bovine tuberculosis eradication measure was slightly changed in the senate, and is now in the hands of a joint conference committee.

The school bill, S. F. 148, retains many of its former main features. The course of study in rural districts in elementary subjects is stretched to nine years. In larger schools high school subjects may be taught. Two teachers may be employed, or one of the older pupils may assist in lower grades.

Accreditment to the state university as a main purpose of high schools is done away with, and "a thorough education rather than the completion of a rigid cours of study" made the chief aim of the system.

Eliminate Normal Inspectors.

The number of exclusive high school teachers required is cut down. Inspection of normal training schools is placed in the hands of county superintendents who report to the state superintendent. This eliminates the inspectors working out of the Lincoln office.

State inspection is retained to accreditment to the university and normal schools, and the university is required credits earned at the four state normal at full value.

Margaret Jackson, billed as, "The Modern Black Patti," has a voice that is decidedly unusual and sung some selections not usually associated with minstrel shows. Johnny Woods had a very good number, a ventriloquist stunt that was above the average. Whitney Viney, interlocutor, also was well received. The show includes a women's chorus as well as the usual men performers.

Farm Home Association
THE National Children's Farm Home Association is the only known organization in Nebraska that is especially paying attention to older girls who are friendless and boys who need assistance; also to assist a father or a mother left with a family to care for; also ready to offer a welcoming hand and aid to the boy and girl coming from the industrial school; also gladly reach out the helping hand to an aged man and woman who need a friend. Is there any others except the poor farm, the penal institutions and the state hospital in Nebraska offering special attention to such care? We do not forget the child, but have many calls from homes, and will aid this class also when we can.
Now at this time when you are distributing your charity funds, please remember this organization in your midst. We are a Lincoln organization and are not duplicating any other in our undertaking. We must call for funds alone, because we are not in connection with any other organization, so we ask all friends of this class of people we are trying to help to make out your check now to M. B. Myers, Treasurer; and mail to box 527, Lincoln, Nebraska.

NO CHARGE FOR TREES PLANTED

Mayor Zehrung Keeps Busy Answering Queries Of Property Owners.

A number of queries at the office of Mayor Zehrung by telephone have brought information to the city hall that a report is broadcast that the city is charging for the trees it plants along the curb spaces in the streets.

The usual question is generally worded, "Is it true that the city charges $4.50 for every tree it plants in the crub space between the sidewalks and the streets?"

It is not true. Mayor Zehrung has assured those who called him that the city makes no charge whatever for taking out old, crippled or undesirable trees from the curb spaces or for planting new ones there. The city does not plant trees for individuals inside the lot line and consequently does no planting for money as indicated by the inquiries.

City Takes Over Control.

Some years ago the city by ordinance took over complete control of all the space between the lot line and the curb, which is in reality a part of the street. It then worked out a plan of general beautification, which, with the assistance of experts, is expected to show to much advantage as the years pass.

Since last fall the city has planted free of all charges more than 2,000 trees, mostly in curb spaces. About 200 to 300 more will be planted this spring and next fall the work will be repeated. This is all done by the park department under Mayor Zehrung at the present time and is never charged against the property owner whose property is benefited. It is done as a work of public benefit for public beautification of the city and on the street property, which is of course, owned by the city.

Moran, who died of injuries received in an automobile collision. The accident occurred at Sixteenth and D streets, November 23, last.

Mr. and Mrs. Randall were going north on South Sivteenth streets in a Ford sedan. Father Moran approached the intersection from the west on D streets in a Buick roadster. Mr. Randall states he was not operating his car to exceed fifteen or eighteen miles an hour and that Father Moran was traveling "approximately thirty-five miles an hour." Father Moran's car struck the Randall car, it is declared. Both cars were hurled several feet against the curbing and completely overturned. Father Moran is blamed by the Randalls for the accident which resulted in his death a few days later.

Mrs. Randall says she was injured in her neck and shoulders and received severe bruises. Mr. Randall bases his claim on damages to his car, medical expenditures and other items.

UNIVERSITY GLEE CLUB IN CONCERT

Pleasing Program is Given at Temple Theatre Friday Evening.

Splendid voices under perfect control, well shaded tones, and expressive of every emotion made possible in song, were some of the things that characterized the University of Nebraska Glee club as a wonderful organization Friday evening when it was heard in the home concert at the Temple theater.

The program, especially well chosen, was in two parts, and was divided among the soloists, the Glee club, and the University male quartet.

Every voice was responsive to the slightest indication on the part of the director, Parvin C. Witte.

The first group of songs given by the Glee club was unusually charming ,and the men responded with an encore, "Secrets."

Francis Diers, prominent Lincoln tenor captivated his audience with his interpretation of "Thora," by Stephen Adams. As an encore he gave "Duna" by M'Gill.

One of the heaviest numbers of the program was "Drontheim" (St. Olaf's Christmas), given by the Glee club. This was followed by a baritone solo "Morning" Speaks, sung by Archie N. Jones. Mr. Jones responded with "You'd Better Ask Me" from "Two Little Irish Songs," and was recalled the second time.

"The Spirit Flower" sung by Parvin C. Witte, was one of the fine numbers on the program. Mr. Witte responded with an Irish folk song as an encore.

Following the last group of songs, the Glee club sang the University of Nebraska chant, and gave the old 'U-U-Uni' obth received with great enthusiasm by the audience.

TURN DOWN EXTRA SALARY PROPOSAL

House Rejects Bill Compensating Lieutenant Governor For Added Duties.

Adopt Amendment to Place Four Farmers On State School Commission.

No extra pay for the lieutenant governor when filling the governor's place during the latter's absence from the state or disability is favored by the state representative diet. The senate bill allowing the acting governor to draw pay for time so served, at the same rate as the governor himself receives, was put to death in committee of the whole Friday afternoon.

Mr. Garber offered an amendment limiting the lieutenant governor to twenty days' pay in any one year, except in case of "physical or mental disability" of the governor. But the house was opposed to paying the lieutenant governor anything at all mor than the $1,600 he receives during a legislative session, and on Mr. Hall's motion it sent the bill to the cemetery.

Farmers on School Commission.

To make sure that the proposed state school commission would not fall under the control of educators the bill providing for it was amended on motion of C. L. Yochum, one of the introducers, so as to cut out the provision for two of the six members to be school men and have four farmers appointed on it, with two business or professional men. Mr. Yochum explained that as the commission would interview and receive suggestions from many educators, it would get their views and ideas anyway.

The commission is to be named by the governor and will choose its own chairman and secretary. It is to investigate and recommend features of a reorganized school system for Nebraska, with revised courses of study. The bill was advanced to third reading.

Telephone Bill Approved.

The bill giving the railway commission authority to apportion toll receipts of connecting telephone companies handled over their joint lines, where the companies themselves can not agree, was approved for passage.

Favors Newspaper Bill.

Similar action was taken upon a bill to give newspaper publishers in cities of 5,000 to 25,000 population the same rates for publishing proceedings of the city council as are provided by law for legal publications elsewhere.

BILL TO REVISE COUNTRY SCHOOL SYSTEM FAVORED

The senate, in the Friday afternoon session, killed S. F. 260, Rickard's freight rate reducing bill; passed the county area tuberculosis eradication measure, and sent the Reed-Rickard-Smrha school bill ahead to third reading.

The original program was to adjourn early in the afternoon until Monday, to give the finance committee time to work out the appropriation bill. Because of Arbor day, the upper house will meet at 2 p. m. Tuesday, when the appropriation bill will be presented.

S. F. 260 provided for a flat reduction of 15 per cent in freight rates on car load lots, subject to later adjustment by he railway commission. The vote to kill was 13 to 10.

Confers on T. B. Measure.

The rewritten bovine tuberculosis eradication measure was slightly changed in the senate, and is now in the hands of a joint conference committee.

The school bill, S. F. 148, retains many of its former main features. The course of study in rural districts in elementary subjects is stretched to nine years. In larger schools high school subjects may be taught. Two teachers may be employed, or one of the older pupils may assist in lower grades.

Accreditment to the state university as a main purpose of high schools is done away with, and "a thorough education rather than the completion of a rigid cours of study" made the chief aim of the system.

Eliminate Normal Inspectors.

The number of exclusive hign school teachers required is cut down. Inspection of normal training schools is placed in the hands of county superintendents who report to the state superintendent. This eliminates the inspectors working out of the Lincoln office.

State inspection is retained to accreditment to the university and normal schools, and the university is required credits earned at the four state normal at full value.

BRYAN WILL NAME NEW COMMISSION

Banking Act Tangle Straightened Out and Appointments Go to Senate Tuesday.

New Law in Effect But Mystery of "Missing Clause" Still Unsolved.

The mixup over the passage of the new banking act was straightened up to everyone's satisfaction Friday, in numerous conferences participated in by Governor Bryan, Attorney General Spillman, Secretary Barnard and Chief Clerk Corrick, Senators Bliss, Anderson and Reifenrath, and Messrs. Dysart and Keyes of the lower house.

Th governor, satisfied that the bill was legally passed and is now in effect, will submit the names of six bankers to the senate Tuesday as his appointees as temporary members of the guaranty fund comission.

The clause limiting the power of this commission over sale of failed banks has been added to tanother banking bill and is booked for early passage. This fact was communicated to Mr. Bryan by Senator Bliss, chairman of the banking committee, and met with the executive's approval.

In the meantime the question of just how the missing clause was dropped during the bill's enactment remains an unsolved mystery.

COURT DECLARES RECESS.

Harvey's Minstrels At the Orpheum

Those who enjoy minstrel shows will be pleased with the offering of Harvey's Greater Minstrels at the Orpheum. Good clog dancing and eccentric dancing and some good music are a part of the production.

Margaret Jackson, billed as, "The Modern Black Patti," has a voice that is decidedly unusual and sang some selections not usually associated with minstrel shows. Johnny Woods had a very good number, a ventriloquist stunt that was above the average. Whitney Viney, interlocutor, also was well received. The show includes a women's chorus as well as the usual men performers.

Farm Home Association

THE National Children's Farm Home Association is the only known organization in Nebraska that is especially paying attention to older girls who are friendless and boys who need assistance; also to assist a father or a mother left with a family to care for; also ready to offer a welcoming hand and aid to the boy and girl coming from the industrial school; also gladly reach out the helping hand to an aged man and woman who need a friend. Is there any others except the poor farm, the penal institutions and the state hospital in Nebraska offering special attention to such care? We do not forget the child, but have many calls from homes, and will aid this class also when we can.

Now at this time when you are distributing your charity funds, please remember this organization in your midst. We are a Lincoln organization and are not duplicating any other in our undertaking. We must call for funds alone, because we are not in connection with any other organization, so we ask all friends of this class of people we are trying to help to make out your check now to M. B. Myers, Treasurer; and mail to box 527, Lincoln, Nebraska.

Catcher Conkey Holds Out On the Links

CONKEY KICKS ON JOINING 'LINKS'

Fails to Show Up for Practice and Then Wires He May Not Come At All.

Frisco Seals Release Three Baseball Youngsters to Lincoln Club.

Fred Conkey, first-string catcher for the Lincoln State leaguers last year, has pulled an Eddie Roush. In other words, Conkey is a holdout. A wire from Conkey's winter residence at Winona, Minn., received today by Manager Buck Beltzer, advised the pilot of the Links that the peppery backstopper is of a mind to perform this year in independent circles rather than to wear a Lincoln uniform.

The catcher was expected to show up in Lincoln early this week to break into spring training, but his failure to appear remained unexplained until the receipt of today's message from Winona. Whether Conkey is merely baiting his hook for a salary boost or genuinely planning to play ball "in the sticks" is pure guesswork on the part of Manager Buck.

Owners Gave Conkey Bonus.

"Conkey may mean it, and then he may not," Manager Beltzer said today. "I am surprised, nevertheless, that Conkey would wait so long before declaring himself. Conkey was one of the players who gave the Lincoln club all he had last year. The record shows that he caught all but three of four games. After the season was over, I tried to show the appreciation of the owners of the club by presenting Conkey with a cash bonus. Conkey accepted the money and assured us that we had treated him handsomely, but now he is holding out. His case is hard to understand.

"We have four young catchers on the squad this spring and Conkey may not be needed, but if we find it necessary to bring Conkey into line, I figure a readjustment of the salary question might induce him to reconsider."

Coast "Rookies" Coming.

Manager Beltzer today confirmed an Associated Press dispatch from the Pacific coast country which told of the release by the San Francisco club of three young players to the Links. The Frisco report announced that the management of the Seals was "farming" the players in question to Lincoln. This version of the story was refuted by Manager Buck, who said the Frisco management had sent Pitchers Gene Van Houten and George Stanton and Infielder Phil Tanner on "outright releases." The Lincoln manager inaugurated the negotiations with the San Francisco club when he attended the national association convention in Louisville, Ky., last December. President Graham of the San Francisco club informed Manager Buck that the Seals undoubtedly would have a few desirable recruits after the practice season was over this spring, and Buck closed the deal at that time on the basis that the players were to come as the property of the Lincoln club, the Seals not having the privilege of reclaiming the players on "option."

New Players Ready to Go.

As the Seals inaugurated the Pacific Coast league race the first week in April, following a full month of practice, Manager Buck figures that Van Houten, Stanton and Tanner are in physical trim to go at their best pace. The players from the coast are due to arrive in Lincoln Monday or Tuesday.

Buck's squad, idle all day Friday as a result of rain, could not use the practice field Saturday morning, but an afternoon workout was on the program.

The Links will be split into two teams Sunday, one going to Omaha to mix with Ernie Holmes' aggregation and the other staying at home to tangle with Manager Basil McCloy's American Legionnaires in an exhibition bout at Landis Field. The Links-Legion fray is scheduled to get under way at 3 p. m. The Sunday admission price has been fixed at 35 cents.

Western League.

All Games Postponed.

Rain blocked the Western league clubs Friday, every game of the four on the schedule being postponed.

Landis Makes Hit With Opera Star

(Associated Press.)

CLEVELAND, O., April 21.—Organized baseball must be supplemented with plenty of diamonds where all boys can play the game, Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis declared here yesterday in an address at a dinner given in his honor by the "Stick to the Finish Club," organization pledged to support the Cleveland Indians.

The high spot in the club's program was an affecting love scene between the high commissioner and Mme. Irene Pavloska of the Chicago Opera company.

"Now if you fellows do what you say you are going to do—stick by the Cleveland Indians until the finish, regardless of what happens—I will come back here and tender you a congratulatory dinner myself," Judge Landis said.

Mme. Pavloska pleaded for just as much support for American opera and musical artists as is shown to American ball players. When she finished, Judge Landis put his arms around her, but was frustrated by the singer's hands when he attempted to implant a kiss.

When Judge Landis finished speaking, however, Mme. Pavloska met him half the distance at the speakers' table and, after one long drawn out kiss, they stood for several minutes with their arms around each other in earnest conversation while the crowd cheered.

"One year from today I'm coming back here and I want all of you and the darling madame over there to take lunch with me," the commissioner said. He left for Chicago last night.

(Special to The Star.)

FREMONT, Neb., April 21.—The triangular track and field meet between Fremont, Columbus and University Place high schools was called off yesterday on account of rain.

Lincoln Boxers On Omaha Fight Card

Two Lincoln boxers will appear on the fight bill arranged by the Cudahy Athletic club of Sioux City tonight. Connie Curry of Sioux City, 113 pounds, is scheduled to box Harold Jelsma of Lincoln, 116 pounds, in the ten-round main event.

Sid Soklyn, Lincoln mitten-whirler, will meet Kid Pierce of Sioux City in the ten-round semi-windup. Both are 147-pounders. Reddy Blanchard of St. Paul will meet Matt Smith of Hawarden, Ia., in a six-round preliminary. Earl Trenholm of Lincoln will referee the card.

Touching Bases.

Babe Ruth popped up at another psychological moment and won out for the Yankees in the ninth. With the bases filled and the count three and two, Bambino shot a two-bagger to center, sending two team-mates over the pan, New York winning, 4 to 3.

The Giants lost their first game of the series when Bentley, former Oriole star, was pounded hard by the Braves. McGraw kept his high-priced southpaw in the game to "work him into condition."

The Pirates and Cubs staged a home run contest, Chicago batters having the better eye and slamming out six of the eight circuit smashes made in the game. It was a weird contest, the Cubs finally winning, 12 to 11.

Connie Mack's Athletics kept up their clean sheet of victories and, although outhit by the Senators, won the third game, 6 to 2.

Durst, subbing for George Sisler, Browns' first-sacker, made his first hit of the season. It was a home run and aided the Browns to trim the Tigers, 5 to 3.

Pounding the ball hard, the Reds evened up the series with the Cardinals. Luque pitched mid-summer ball.

The Indians staged a rally in the seventh and made it three straight over the White Sox, 8 to 5.

In a game featured by heavy batting and loose fielding, the Phillies made it two out of three from the Dodgers. Six twirlers were used, four by the Robins.

The Sunday baseball program will open at 1 p. m. when the Eagles meet the Modern Woodmen in the opening game. The second contest is billed for 3 p. m. and will be a game between College View and the Central Tires.

Manager Jack Still Silent On Topic of Gibbons Fight July 4 In Montana.

(Associated Press.)

LOS ANGELES, April 21.—Jack Dempsey, heavyweight boxing champion, was to leave today for Salt Lake City. He will remain in Utah until the time comes for him to leave for New York to attend the milk fund boxing show, May 12.

Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager, left yesterday for Salt Lake City. He will remain there a few days and then go to Chicago and New York. He said he probably would announce Dempsey's prospective bouts after reaching New York.

Willard Shows Off In Chicago.

CHICAGO, April 21.—Jess Willard, former world's heavyweight champion, who is matched to box Floyd Johnson fifteen rounds in New York on May 12, passed through Chicago yesterday on his way east to complete his training. Willard expressed confidence that he could stop Johnson in short order and obtain a return match with Jack Dempsey in an attempt to regain his lost crown.

The former champion spent an hour at work in a local gymnasium and boxed several rounds with Harry Drake English heavyweight, without any apparent signs of strain.

Detroit Fighter In Gotham.

NEW YORK, April 20.—Jack McAuliffe, Detroit heavyweight, arrived here yesterday to enter into the final training grind for his bout with Luis Angel Firpo, South American boxer, on May 12. The Detroit fighter immediately sought out a gymnasium and began an intensive program.

McTigue Ready For Carp.

NEW YORK, April 21.—A bout between Mike McTague, Irish middleweight, and Georges Carpentier of France for the light-heavyweight championship of the world, loomed when Promoter Tex Rickard obtained McTigue's consent and cabled an offer to the Frenchman. The bout would be staged at the Yankee stadium on July 7, Rickard announced.

McTigue, who recently won the world's title from Battling Siki, was not present at he conference, but Joe Jacobs, his manager, accepted the terms offered by Rickard. Carpentier, it was understood, has demanded $75,000, with the privilege of 25 per cent of the gross receipts for the match.

(Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, April 21.—A stirring ninth inning rally yesterday enabled the Yankees to make it three straight from Boston, 4 to 3. 'DOPE' UPSET BY MACKS AND PHILS

Feats of Quaker Teams Big Surprise of Major League Races to Date.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH.

(International News Service.)

NEW YORK, April 21.—For the most part the major league pennant races are running more or less according to the late Mr. Hoyle, even at this early date. Both New York clubs, generally favored to come through on the bit, except by radical spirits such as the writer, are off in front of their respective fields and running as fast as an open spigot. From a New York point of view, this portion of the race is normalcy itself.

However, pretenders of more or less worthiness are gracing the first divisions of both leagues, the notable instances being both of the Philadelphia clubs. Of course, earlier speed is not worth an elderly banana as a general thing, but when Art Fletcher can get a team like the Phillies to win two of his first three games, tie another, and only lose because the Dodgers pulled a five-run rally in the ninth, he is entitled to a degree of immoderate acclaim.

Phils Over Their Heads.

The Phils probably will come back to their true speed with all due haste. The same thing is hoped for from the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Chicago White Sox in the National and American leagues, respectively. They are the horrible examples of the first part of the 1923 season.

Both figured to be fairly well heeled with pitchers, neither has managed to muster a well pitched game to date, however, and are residing in or near the cellar. The case of the Pirates was not exactly unforeseen, as they had terrible weather at Hot Springs and are hardly in top form, but the White Sox had carried the Giants to the finale of a sixteen-game series before capitulating and were expected to get away running in the American league race. That they have not is one of the uncertainties that make baseball the great national sport.

Yanks True to Form.

As the races line up today, each has two possible first division clubs running to form. In the American league, the Yankees and Tigers are placed according to speed and may finish just as they stand, namely, in first and fourth places.

The Cleveland Indians may also deserve their present ranking, but the Athletics are over their collective head. They are not essentially a first division outfit, just as the St. Louis Browns and the White Sox do not look at all natural in the second division. Neither has been able to get any pitching to date, while the Yankees have been fortunate in this respect and also are to be congratulated on the fact that Babe Ruth is hitting in his 1921 form.

Pirates and Reds in Slump.

The National league is equally abnormal with the Pirates and the Reds, rated as sure pennant contenders, off to a careworn start. On paper, neither the Cubs nor the Phillies deserve to run one-two-three and probably will come back to the field in due season. A sad beginning, however, is not always a good ending. The Reds lost twelve of their first thirteen games last year and, incidentally, the pennant. This may happen again, for history can and does repeat.

Last Night's Fights

At Milwaukee—Ernie Goefman won by a technical knockout over Joe Sanger, first round. Joe Gans outpointed Jack Schoendof, eight rounds, Johnny O'Donnell outpointed Jack Condon, six rounds.

At Cedar Rapids, Ia.—Eddy Morse defeated Johnny Baker, seven rounds.

At Erie, Pa.—Carl Tremaine was given a trimming here in twelve rounds by Mog Pugh, champion of Wales and the British army and navy.

Dwight Hi Baseball Nine Trims Weston

(Special to The Star.)

DWIGHT, Neb., April 21.—Dwight high made up for a defeat in baseball yesterday by drubbing Weston high in baseball yesterday afternoon, 20 to 1.

The game was interesting up to the fourth inning when the Dwight high sluggers went on a rampage and counted seventeen runs.

Liska, pitching for Dwight, hurled the first four innings and only twelve men faced him, eleven striking out and the other man rolling to Liska for an easy out. Shonka of Dwight got four hits in five trips to the plate. Score:

HILDRETH SUFFERS DISASTROUS FIRE

Entire Stock of Large Department Store Destroyed In Flames.

Firemen From Three Towns Battle Blaze and Save Other Property.

(Special to The Star.)

HILDRETH, Neb., April 21.—Fire Monday evening completely destroyed the building and stock of the Hildreth Mercantile company, with a loss of approximately $60,000.

The blaze was discovered at the closing hour, just as the lights were being turned out. It had its origin among the ready to wear clothing hanging on the racks beneath the office and made its way rapidly to the papers in the office above, thence to the ceiling. The flames spread so rapidly that before the alarm could be given the roof was on fire. The cause of the blaze is generally believed to have been a short circuit.

The Hildreth fire company responded promptly as did the one from Wilcox. There was good pressure and plenty of water, but it was soon evident that the building of the mercantile company could not be saved. By a hard fight of two hours and more, however, the two fire departments and assistants from Upland prevented the spread of the flames to other structures.

Anticipating that his warehouse would be destroyed, A. F. Schwartz, implement dealer, moved his stock to places of safety and the editor of the Telescope moved his printing office into the street. Many of the autos in the J. Volz Motor company garage were run out to avoid the possibility of los.

Almost everything in the large department store of the mercantile company was a total loss. This included groceries, hardware, stoves, dry goods, women's and men's ready to wear clothing, hats, etc. In the office were cash registers, adding machines and office equipment and the law library of Leon Samuelson.

C. E. Samuelson, owner of the mercantile company, came to Hildreth in an early day, working for the first merchant in this town. In 1892 he went to Holdrege, where he worked for a time, being sent back here the next year to open a branch for his employers. In a short time he acquired the stock, which was originally valued at about $1,000 and by his energy and ability built up a business with an investment of $60,000 at the time of the fire.

URIC ACID

Does NOT Cause Rheumatism!

Furthermore, I claim that Uric Acid is a NATURAL and NECESSARY constituent of the blood—that it is found in the body of every new-born babe—that without it we could not live! Strange statements? Yes—to you perhaps, because you have always been told differently.

But my book, The Inner Mysteries of Rheumatism, just published, tells you the real truth about Rheumatism. Tells what actually DOES cause it and how it is now being successfully treated in all its different forms and stages by entirely new, advanced scientific methods.

The writing of this unusual book is the result of my twenty years' study, experimentation and research in this disease and I want every sufferer of RHEUMATISM, NEURITIS, SCIATICA, GOUT, etc., no matter in what form or how chronic to read it. Therefore, although valuable, I will gladly send one complete copy only of the book absolutely free if you will send your address or that of any sufferer you may know, plainly to

North and South Highway Planned

(Special to The Star.)

KEARNEY, Neb., April 21.—Fifty-two out of town delegates were in attendance at the Kearney, Springview and Pierre, (S. D.) highway meeting, held here Thursday afternoon. The visiting delegates were guests of the Chamber of Commerce at luncheon. The purpose of this meeting was to consider plans for extension of the highway south from Kearney, for a distance of eighty-five miles, thus connecting up with the Ocean to Ocean highway. This plan was unanimously approved and thus links up eight east and west transcontinental highways. Practically all of the road north from Kearney is a federal and state aid project.

EXPERIMENT WITH WATER AND SOIL

Storage Capacity of Ground In Adams County Being Tested.

(Special to The Star.)

HASTINGS, Neb., April 21.—Two plots ten feet square have been located at both Ingleside and near Hastings college as observation places in the government soil survey for the supplemental water project by A. Lincoln Fellows.

One ten-foot square plot in each place will be left dry during the summer except for the rains. The other will get not only the rains but has already been treated to fifteen inches of surface water.

Borings to the depth of seven feet will be made every thirty days and the soil removed by the auger in each foot of that distance will be made into separate balls, dried in a hot oven and weighed both before and after to get the amount of water content.

The borings will be made on both the dry and the watered plot for the purpose of comparison. It is believed that at the end of a year after the one application of water to the first plot, the sub soil as low as seven feet, will still contain a considerable amount of moisture more than the dry one.

Two other sets of plots have been located in Adams county, one near Hansen and the other south of Doniphan. All will be treated similarly, a dyke being built around one to hold the initial application of water and the other left dry.

By this plan of testing, it is hoped to learn just how much supplemental water will be needed to asure a crop in spite of drouth.

EMPLOY MEXICANS FOR BEET FIELDS

North Platte Valley Acreage Increased and Labor Less Plentiful.

(Special to The Star.)

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb., April 21.—The Great Western Sugar company will import hundreds of Mexicans into the North Platte valley this spring for labor in the beet fields.

Neil Vandemoer, representing the Nebraska district, is on the border now, contracting with laborers for the coming season.

Much of this work has been done in the past by Russians, and also by Mexicans, but the labor shortage this year has made necessary extra efforts to secure field labor from the Rio Grande.

For the first time in the history of the sugar beets in Nebraska, the laborers will be paid on a sliding scale, rewarding them for extra heavy tonnages secured.

Farmers of the North Platte valley have already contracted to plant 52,000 acres to sugar beets, it was announced by Assistant General Manager Edmund Simmons Friday.

This is 4,000 greater than last year's total acreage. Additional acreage may raise the total for this year to 55,000, although most of the farmers are already at work planting.

The beets will be grown under a sliding scale contract guaranteeing the growers $5.50, and giving them a share in the profit on the sale of sugar.

Total yield is expected to be close to 700,000 tons of sugar beets.

Catcher Conkey Holds Out On the Links

CONKEY KICKS ON JOINING 'LINKS'

Fails to Show Up for Practice and Then Wires He May Not Come At All.

Frisco Seals Release Three Baseball Youngsters to Lincoln Club.

Fred Conkey, first-string catcher for the Lincoln State leaguers last year, has pulled an Eddie Roush. In other words, Conkey is a holdout. A wire from Conkey's winter residence at Winona, Minn., received today by Manager Buck Beltzer, advised the pilot of the Links that the peppery backstopper is of a mind to perform this year in independent circles rather than to wear a Lincoln uniform.

The catcher was expected to show up in Lincoln early this week to break into spring training, but his failure to appear remained unexplained until the receipt of today's message from Winona. Whether Conkey is merely baiting his hook for a salary boost or genuinely planning to play ball "in the sticks" is pure guesswork on the part of Manager Buck.

Owners Gave Conkey Bonus.

"Conkey may mean it, and then he may not," Manager Beltzer said today. "I am surprised, nevertheless, that Conkey would wait so long before declaring himself. Conkey was one of the players who gave the Lincoln club all he had last year. The record shows that he caught all but three of four games. After the season was over, I tried to show the appreciation of the owners of the club by presenting Conkey with a cash bonus. Conkey accepted the money and assured us that we had treated him handsomely, but now he is holding out. His case is hard to understand.

"We have four young catchers on the squad this spring and Conkey may not be needed, but if we find it necessary to bring Conkey into line, I figure a readjustment of the salary question might induce him to reconsider."

Coast "Rookies" Coming.

Manager Beltzer today confirmed an Associated Press dispatch from the Pacific coast country which told of the release by the San Francisco club of three young players to the Links. The Frisco report announced that the management of the Seals was "farming" the players in question to Lincoln. This version of the story was refuted by Manager Buck, who said the Frisco management had sent Pitchers Gene Van Houten and George Stanton and Infielder Phil Tanner on "outright releases." The Lincoln manager inaugurated the negotiations with the San Francisco club when he attended the national association convention in Louisville, Ky., last December. President Graham of the San Francisco club informed Manager Buck that the Seals undoubtedly would have a few desirable recruits after the practice season was over this spring, and Buck closed the deal at that time on the basis that the players were to come as the property of the Lincoln club, the Seals not having the privilege of reclaiming the players on "option."

New Players Ready to Go.

As the Seals inaugurated the Pacific Coast league race the first week in April, following a full month of practice, Manager Buck figures that Van Houten, Stanton and Tanner are in physical trim to go at their best pace. The players from the coast are due to arrive in Lincoln Monday or Tuesday.

Buck's squad, idle all day Friday as a result of rain, could not use the practice field Saturday morning, but an afternoon workout was on the program.

The Links will be split into two teams Sunday, one going to Omaha to mix with Ernie Holmes' aggregation and the other staying at home to tangle with Manager Basil McCloy's American Legionnaires in an exhibition bout at Landis Field. The Links-Legion fray is scheduled to get under way at 3 p. m. The Sunday admission price has been fixed at 35 cents.

Western League.

All Games Postponed.

Rain blocked the Western league clubs Friday, every game of the four on the schedule being postponed.

Landis Makes Hit With Opera Star

(Associated Press.)

CLEVELAND, O., April 21.—Organized baseball must be supplemented with plenty of diamonds where all boys can play the game, Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis declared here yesterday in an address at a dinner given in his honor by the "Stick to the Finish Club," organization pledged to support the Cleveland Indians.

The high spot in the club's program was an affecting love scene between the high commissioner and Mme. Irene Pavloska of the Chicago Opera company.

"Now if you fellows do what you say you are going to do—stick by the Cleveland Indians until the finish, regardless of what happens—I will come back here and tender you a congratulatory dinner myself," Judge Landis said.

Mme. Pavloska pleaded for just as much support for American opera and musical artists as is shown to American ball players. When she finished, Judge Landis put his arms around her, but was frustrated by the singer's hands when he attempted to implant a kiss.

When Judge Landis finished speaking, however, Mme. Pavloska met him half the distance at the speakers' table and, after one long drawn out kiss, they stood for several minutes with their arms around each other in earnest conversation while the crowd cheered.

"One year from today I'm coming back here and I want all of you and the darling madame over there to take lunch with me," the commissioner said. He left for Chicago last night.

The Giants lost their first game of the series when Bentley, former Oriole star, was pounded hard by the Braves. McGraw kept his high-priced southpaw in the game to "work him into condition."

The Pirates and Cubs staged a home run contest, Chicago batters having the better eye and slamming out six of the eight circuit smashes made in the game. It was a weird contest, the Cubs finally winning, 12 to 11.

Connie Mack's Athletics kept up their clean sheet of victories and, although outhit by the Senators, won the third game, 6 to 2.

Durst, subbing for George Sisler, Browns' first-sacker, made his first hit of the season. It was a home run and aided the Browns to trim the Tigers, 5 to 3.

Pounding the ball hard, the Reds evened up the series with the Cardinals. Luque pitched mid-summer ball.

The Indians staged a rally in the seventh and made it three straight over the White Sox, 8 to 5.

'DOPE' UPSET BY MACKS AND PHILS

Feats of Quaker Teams Big Surprise of Major League Races to Date.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH.
(International News Service.)

NEW YORK, April 21.—For the most part the major league pennant races are running more or less according to the late Mr. Hoyle, even at this early date. Both New York clubs, generally favored to come through on the bit, except by radical spirits such as the writer, are off in front of their respective fields and running as fast as an open spigot. From a New York point of view, this portion of the race is normalcy itself.

However, pretenders of more or less worthiness are gracing the first divisions of both leagues, the notable instances being both of the Philadelphia clubs. Of course, earlier speed is not worth an elderly banana as a general thing, but when Art Fletcher can get a team like the Phillies to win two of his first three games, tie another, and only lose because the Dodgers pulled a five-run rally in the ninth, he is entitled to a degree of immoderate acclaim.

Phils Over Their Heads.

The Phils probably will come back to their true speed with all due haste. The same thing is hoped for from the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Chicago White Sox in the National and American leagues, respectively. They are the horrible examples of the first part of the 1923 season.

Both figured to be fairly well heeled with pitchers, neither has managed to muster a well pitched game to date, however, and are residing in or near the cellar. The case of the Pirates was not exactly unforeseen, as they had terrible weather at Hot Springs and are hardly in top form, but the White Sox had carried the Giants to the finale of a sixteen-game series before capitulating and were expected to get away running in the American league race. That they have not is one of the uncertainties that make baseball the great national sport.

Yanks True to Form.

As the races line up today, each has two possible first division clubs running to form. In the American league, the Yankees and Tigers are placed according to speed and may finish just as they stand, namely, in first and fourth places.

The Cleveland Indians may also deserve their present ranking, but the Athletics are over their collective head. They are not essentially a first division entry, just as the St. Louis Browns and the White Sox do not look at all natural in the second division. Neither has been able to get any pitching to date, while the Yankees have been fortunate in this respect and also are to be congratulated on the fact that Babe Ruth is hitting in his 1921 form.

Pirates and Reds in Slump.

The National league is equally abnormal with the Pirates and the Reds, rated as sure pennant contenders, off to a careworn start. On paper, neither the Cubs nor the Phillies deserve to run one-two-three and probably will come back to the field in due season. A bad beginning, however, is not always a good ending. The Reds lost twelve of their first thirteen games last year and, incidentally, the pennant. This may happen again, for history can and does repeat.

Last Night's Fights

At Milwaukee—Ernie Goefman won by a technical knockout over Joe Sanger, first round. Joe Gans outpointed Jack Schoendof, eight rounds, Johnny O'Donnell outpointed Jack Condon, six rounds.

At Cedar Rapids, Ia.—Eddy Morse defeated Johnny Baker, seven rounds.

At Erie, Pa.—Carl Tremaine was given a trimming here in twelve rounds by Mog Pugh, champion of Wales and the British army and navy.

Dwight Hi Baseball Nine Trims Weston

(Special to The Star.)

DWIGHT, Neb., April 21.—Dwight high made up for a defeat in baseball yesterday by drubbing Weston high in baseball yesterday afternoon, 20 to 1.

The game was interesting up to the fourth inning when the Dwight high sluggers went on a rampage and counted seventeen runs.

Liska, pitching for Dwight, hurled the first four innings and only twelve men faced him, eleven striking out and the other man rolling to Liska for an easy out. Shonka of Dwight got four hits in five trips to the plate. Score: R. H.

HILDRETH SUFFERS DISASTROUS FIRE

Entire Stock of Large Department Store Destroyed In Flames.

Firemen From Three Towns Battle Blaze and Save Other Property.

(Special to The Star.)

HILDRETH, Neb., April 21.—Fire Monday evening completely destroyed the building and stock of the Hildreth Mercantile company, with a loss of approximately $60,000.

The blaze was discovered at the closing hour, just as the lights were being turned out. It had its origin among the ready to wear clothing hanging on the racks beneath the office and made its way rapidly to the papers in the office above, thence to the ceiling. The flames spread so rapidly that before the alarm could be given the roof was on fire. The cause of the blaze is generally believed to have been a short circuit.

The Hildreth fire company responded promptly as did the one from Wilcox. There was good pressure and plenty of water, but it was soon evident that the building of the mercantile company could not be saved. By a hard fight of two hours and more, however, the two fire departments and assistants from Upland prevented the spread of the flames to other structures.

Anticipating that his warehouse would be destroyed, A. F. Schwartz, implement dealer, moved his stock to places of safety and the editor of the Telescope moved his printing office into the street. Many of the autos in the J. Volz Motor company garage were run out to avoid the possibility of los.

Almost everything in the large department store of the mercantile company was a total loss. This included groceries, hardware, stoves, dry goods, women's and men's ready to wear clothing, hats, etc. In the office were cash registers, adding machines and office equipment and the law library of Leon Samuelson.

C. E. Samuelson, owner of the mercantile company, came to Hildreth in an early day, working for the first merchant in this town. In 1892 he went to Holdrege, where he worked for a time, being sent back here the next year to open a branch for his employers. In a short time he acquired the stock, which was originally valued at about $1,000 and by his energy and ability built up a business with an investment of $60,000 at the time of the fire.

URIC ACID

Does NOT Cause Rheumatism!

Furthermore, I claim that Uric Acid is a NATURAL and NECESSARY constituent of the blood—that it is found in the body of every new-born babe—that without it we could not live! Strange statements? Yes—to you perhaps, because you have always been told differently.

But my book, The Inner Mysteries of Rheumatism, just published, tells you the real truth about Rheumatism. Tells what actually DOES cause it and how it is now being successfully treated in all its different forms and stages by entirely new, advanced scientific methods.

The writing of this unusual book is the result of my twenty years' study, experimentation and research in this disease and I want every sufferer of RHEUMATISM, NEURITIS, SCIATICA, GOUT, etc., no matter in what form or how chronic to read it. Therefore, although valuable, I will gladly send one complete copy only of the book absolutely free if you will send your address or that of any sufferer you may know, plainly written, to

Storage Capacity of Ground In Adams County Being Tested.

(Special to The Star.)

HASTINGS, Neb., April 21.—Two plots ten feet square have been located at both Ingleside and near Hastings college as observation places in the government soil survey for the supplemental water project by A. Lincoln Fellows.

One ten-foot square plot in each place will be left dry during the summer except for the rains. The other will get not only the rains but has already been treated to fifteen inches of surface water.

Borings to the depth of seven feet will be made every thirty days and the soil removed by the auger in each foot of that distance will be made into separate balls, dried in a hot oven and weighed both before and after to get the amount of water content.

The borings will be made on both the dry and the watered plot for the purpose of comparison. It is believed that at the end of a year after the one application of water to the first plot, the sub soil as low as seven feet, will still contain a considerable amount of moisture more than the dry one.

Two other sets of plots have been located in Adams county, one near Hansen and the other south of Doniphan. All will be treated similarly, a dyke being built around one to hold the initial application of water and the other left dry.

By this plan of testing, it is hoped to learn just how much supplemental water will be needed to asure a crop in spite of drouth.

North and South Highway Planned

(Special to The Star.)

KEARNEY, Neb., April 21.—Fifty-two out of town delegates were in attendance at the Kearney, Springview and Pierre, (S. D.) highway meeting, held here Thursday afternoon. The visiting delegates were guests of the Chamber of Commerce at luncheon. The purpose of this meeting was to consider plans for extension of the highway south from Kearney, for a distance of eighty-five miles, thus connecting up with the Ocean to Ocean highway. This plan was unanimously approved and thus links up eight east and west transcontinental highways. Practically all of the road north from Kearney is a federal and state aid project.

EMPLOY MEXICANS FOR BEET FIELDS

North Platte Valley Acreage Increased and Labor Less Plentiful.

(Special to The Star.)

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb., April 21.—The Great Western Sugar company will import hundreds of Mexicans into the North Platte valley this spring for labor in the beet fields.

Neil Vandemoer, representing the Nebraska district, is on the border now, contracting with laborers for the coming season.

Much of this work has been done in the past by Russians, and also by Mexicans, but the labor shortage this year has made necessary extra efforts to secure field labor from the Rio Grande.

For the first time in the history of the sugar beets in Nebraska, the laborers will be paid on a sliding scale, rewarding them for extra heavy tonnages secured.

Farmers of the North Platte valley have already contracted to plant 52,000 acres to sugar beets, it was announced by Assistant General Manager Edmund Simmons Friday.

This is 4,000 greater than last year's total acreage. Additional acreage may raise the total for this year to 55,000, although most of the farmers are already at work planting.

The beets will be grown under a sliding scale contract guaranteeing the growers $5.50, and giving them a share in the profit on the sale of sugar.

Total yield is expected to be close to 700,000 tons of sugar beets.

WHEN FRIENDS QUARREL

When President Harding was making his campaign for office in 1920, he devoted a great deal of attention to his proposal for cooperation with the senate. The president said he would call the senate into conference, in fact he proposed "to consult the best minds in this country."

One is able to get a better view of the president's "meeting of minds," when he reads the address of Nathaniel A. Eisberg, of New York City, upon the occasion of Eisberg's re-election as president of the National Republican club. Senators Borah, Johnson, and LaFollette should leave the ranks of the republicans and join the democrats "where they belong," Eisberg told his audience. He was heartily applauded and no one rose to the defense of the senators.

"I want to see the time," Eisberg said, "and that soon, when men who have been elected by republican votes and suported by republican newspapers, and who style themselves republicans, but who at every opportunity assail a republican administration, president and cabinet, are thrown out of the republican party and over into the democratic party, where they belong. I have particular reference to Borah, LaFollette and Johnson."

Here's three of the "bell ringers" in the last campaign who are no longer welcome within the ranks of the republican party. Surely this is rank ingratitude, for no three men played a more potent part in the election of President Harding than Borah, LaFollette and Johnson. Their intense hatred of Woodrow Wilson smothered their deep-seated dislike for the party candidate, and the principles which he advocated, and they were willing to bide their time to even the score with Mr. Harding. It was an unnatural union of factions which swept the republicans into power in 1920, but it has taken less than three years to break the unholy alliance down.

There will be no "meeting of the best minds" in the republican party. Messrs Borah, LaFollette and Johnson, and incidentally Norris and Howell of Nebraska, are as welcome in the councils of the standpat republican leaders as the "boob" who tags along with the fellow and his best girl on a moonlight night. But President Harding and his advisers knew how the country had tired of the feud between Wilson and the three irreconcilables. This stuff about the "meeting of th best minds" sounds good. It didn't make any particular difference who was in the wrong. Mr. Harding's friends wanted to cash in then on the deadlock, and they did succeed in capitalizing it.

The republican campaign of 1920 is providing embarrassment for the leaders in at least two matters. The bitter condemnation of the league of nations is proving a boomarang for Mr. Harding in his proposal for American participation in the court of international justice. Now comes the long-delayed break between the conservative wing of the party which Mr. Harding represents, and the more liberal elements. There never was a chance for unity of action between the two. Their conception of public responsibility does not follow the same path. It never will.

America will be infinitely better if a clean-cut break occurs. Then she will have an opportunity of passing upon the issues.

BLOT OUT THE SYSTEM.

The Florida house of representatives has voted to abolish corporal punishment in the handling of county convicts, hired out to private contractors to the financial benefit of the state and the prison keepers.

If that is all the Florida legislature is going to do about the matter, Florida deserves to be classed along with other unenlightened commonwealths where the rack the stocks, the boiling oil and other inquisition tortures are symbolic of the public welfare. If the pitiful exposure of the system of hiring out prisoners to private companies who mistreat them, brings no other result than the abolishment of the corporal punishment, there is one member of these United States of which we are woefully ashamed.

It is incredible that this kind of testimony could be given in this nation at this time. Yet we are reliably informed concerning Talbert, who was whipped to death recently in one of these convict camps and whose case has aroused the indignation of the entire country, as follows:

"Talbert's back was a pulpy mass after Higgenbotham had finished beating him with the big leather lash. He bunked with me, (Gardner) and when I and other men in the bunk house helped him get his shirt off, blood poured from half a hundred cuts in his back and he fell over in his bunk in a faint."

He died. Not pretty nor pleasant is it? Not very complimentary to the state where, after an investigation by an official from another state, such a condition was found to exist. Not a system nor a condition that is to be remedied by taking one means of torture from the hands of heartless men who see in human lives, ill-gotten dollars and in prison discipline a chance to vent beastly cruelties.

Not much chance of eliminating cruelty by eliminating one implement of punishment in the hands of such men as described before the legislature. For instance:

"After he had licked me I found out he had mistaken me for a turpentine worker. When he found out he had licked the wrong man he went over and licked all of the eighteen turpentine men in the gang he thought I belonged to."

It is small comfort to know that the man who did the actual whipping is under indictment for murder. The system he represents goes unchecked and unheeded by the Florida legislators. They say nothing about abolishing the antiquated, inhumn nd indefensible system of hiring out convicts to private enterprise. Convicts are not men, they say in effect, but beasts of burden, creatures worth as much to us as we can get out of them. We are not concerned with their moral mental or physical welfare and they are not deserving of the consideration accorded to dumb animals. But they mustn't be whipped.

Fair Florida—be careful that the name doesn't come to be "Blackest Florida."

WAR ON THE SPARROW.

The local humane society is receiving numerous complaints from business houses and residents regarding the great number of pigeons and sparrows that make their homes in the gables and gutters of the city's buildings. The Lincoln hotel declares it costs a hundred dollars and more a month to fight the birds on its one building and many angry home owners have called the society to know how they can humanely be rid of the two kinds of birds, which are admittedly pests.

The society has no approved method of fighting either sparrows or pigeons. It has no particular interest in either, however, and does not object to efforts to dislodge the birds from their roosts. "If permission can be obtained from the police," they say, "use a small shot gun on them." But they know that the police will not be apt to give permission for any promiscuous shooting within the city limits.

Several have asked if it would be permissible to spread poison for these birds but there the society objects, not on the account of the sparrows and pigeons but because of the danger to other birds and to pets and animals which might eat the poisoned birds. The use of a hose and stretm of water, repeatedly washing out of nests and destrowing of eggs and frequent frightening, are the suggestions made generally and these suggestions together with the assurance that pigeons and sparrows are rated as a nuisance and not as birds to be protected by the humane society, seem to give the angry pigeon hater some satisfaction.

Administering Relief.

LINCOLN, Neb., April 18—To the Editor of the Lincoln Star: Answering the item in your paper recently to the effect that relief for the ex-service men has not been properly distributed by the state department of the American legion auxiliary, it is true most of the relief expended from the state hospital and welfare fund has been given to Bellevue, Omaha and Kearney. First, let me correct one thing. The school called Bellevue is not a hospital and this school contains men from all the four states in the ninth district and does not belong to Omaha any more than to Scottsbluffs. Bellevue is the only ex-service men's institution in the state and the only one of its kind in the United States and we are proud to be able to help it. Word has been sent out repeatedly urging all the units in Nebraska to let us know if they have any ex-service men that need relief. If they do not let the state department know, we have no way of knowing who needs help.

As for Omaha, it is more difficult to get members in a large city where there are so many other organizations to take up their interest, and the needy and sick ex-service men drift into headquarters there by the hundreds. There is only one unit in Omaha and it cannot handle this problem alone.

Many of the units out over the state write that they have no one in their community to help and they be eager to help the larger units.

You will find a few individuals everywhere who always object no matter what is done.

Jil-Bett
Or Stifling Conscience

By LAURA JEAN LIBBEY

(Copyright, 1923, by Laura Jean Libbey, published by special arrangement with the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

The story so far:

Jay Marmaduke Smith, engaged to Clairena Vail, is made drunk at his bachelor's dinner by Edward Thorne, his rival, who starts to take him to Clairena's house. They are held up and Smith is thrown by robbers into an airplane that take him across the ocean and leaves him, senseless, on the Arabian coast at Katar, where Bannock, a gem expert, and his granddaughter, Jil-Bett, live. Liffany's, of New York, had sent their man Staples to find Bannock to engrave a priceless ruby with the word "Mizpah." Staples give the ruby to Bannock to engrave, with a thousand dollars to begin with. Smith had intended the ruby as a gift for Clairena. Jil-Bett discovered the senseless Jay Smith, who, under her care at the hospital, regains consciousness. His memory is gone. Her care of Jay causes great jealousy on the part of an Arab official, Ben-Ali, who wants to marry her. A follower of Ben-Ali is killed by falling on Jil-Bett's dagger in a struggle with her. Ben-Ali, who sees the struggle, tells Jil-Bett he will swear she did it unless she marries him immediately on his return from a trip away. She sees Jay at the hospital and persuades him to become a pearl fisher.

GOOD LUCK FOR BANNOCK.

"Chance will not do the work—
chance sends the breeze.
But if the pilot slumber at the helm,
The very wind that wafts us toward the port
May dash us on the shelves — the steerman's part
Is vigilance, blow it rough—or—smooth."

Bannock was pacing to and fro for the last hour, wondering what was detaining Jil-Bett on this night of all others, when he had such wonderful news to unfold to her. He pondered long and earnestly whether he should go in search of her or wait her coming.

All unconscious of the anxiety of her grandfather on this particular night of all others, Jil-Bett had stopped at the Mudge's on her way home to change the dress she had worn that day to the hospital—a borrowed one from Mrs. Mudge—and to try on one that good woman was making for her to replace the native dress she had always been satisfied with until now.

"I want to have clothes like the wives and daughters of the officials wear," she confided to Mrs. Mudge. "A pretty white cotton, with nice flounces edged in red, and stockings and slippers, instead of bare feet and limbs."

She heard the girl speak so much and so enthusiastically of the handsome stranger at the hospital she redily guessed he was the cause of Jil-Bett's longing to look like the girls in the English colony, and pleasing in his eyes. She was not surprised at this request, indeed, she had been expecting it for some time.

After she had beheld herself in Mrs. Mudge's gown, ill-fitting though it was to her slim figure, Jil-Bett determined never to go back to the old way of garbing herself, when not pearl-diving.

Mrs. Mudge was deft with the needle. She had fashioned from plain cotton sheeting a dress over which the girl went into raptures.

"I copied it from the one that one of the governor's daughters is wearing," she admitted. "I am sure no one will mind; indeed, they are most anxious that the women and young girls of Katar should dress as the people of far-off England do. You will see that they will be very pleased with you in this," holding it up at arm's length for Jil-Bett to admire. "This, with a couple of strands of your pearls, will make you a very beautiful young lady. I should not be surprised if you will want to give up diving next."

"That I can never do," declared Jil-Bett decisively. "You know we are very poor indeed, and we depend upon the money to live since grandfather is no longer able to get anything to do at his trade."

"The life and ability of a diver, either man or woman, is short at the best, Jil-Bett. What will you do when that occupation fails you, dearie?"

"I will do as you are doing, Mrs. Mudge, sew shirts for the natives to support my grandfather and myself."

"You will perhaps end by marrying one of the Arabs, providing Ben-Ali does not force you into a union when he returns."

"Never! Never!" cried Jil-Bett with a shudder. "I will never marry one whom I do not love."

She crept up to Mrs. Mudge, laying her head in her lap.

"Tell me about love, Mrs. Mudge," she whispered. "I want to know if it is true that every girl meets some one man and — and life is never again what it was to her before; and one face is always before her in her dreams, and she would almost give up her life for him—her only great happiness being near him—just being where he is."

"Heaven bless the child," murmured Mrs. Mudge, gathering the girl closer in her arms, "who would have thought such fancies were in her dear little head." Aloud she said. "You never had such ideas until the stranger down at the hospital came into your life, did you?" Jil-Bett could not, or would not, answer.

"It is not wisest or best for a girl to let her heart go out to a man of whom she knows absolutely nothing," she remarked.

Jil-Bett lifted her face from her lap, looking up into her face. "Now you are talking along the lines that grandfather does. He remembers nothing of love—how should he — he is old, and has forgotten it long, long ago. I have read all the books over in the library — the story of Juliet and Romeo—and—"

The entrance of Mudge cut short the conversation.

"We will resume the conversation the next time you come over, dearie," she whispered as she kissed the girl goodnight.

"Oh, fair young mother, if you were only here with your Jil-Bett you would tell me if it is right or wrong to think so constantly of Jack. Oh, mother! Angel mother! What would I do if he were ever to go away and I should see him no more? Did you have such thoughts about my father?" But the gleaming stars made her no answer.

There was another and quite important matter which troubled Jil-Bett's heart, and which she meant to confide to Mrs. Mudge, and that was that she had heard that one of the governor's beautiful daughters had been visiting the hospital, taking a great interest in her Jack.

Jil-Bett wended her way home, wondering what her grandfather would say when he saw the pretty white dress and heard of her determination to dress like the daughters of the officials, who had clothes sent to them from Paris and London.

She knew she would be upbraided for staying out so late. As she reached the door she was startled by the sound of a sob from within. She entered hurriedly, surprising her grandfather, who was on his knees before the lapidary bench, weeping as men seldom weep in a lifetime.

In the greatest of alarm she ran to his side, crying: "Oh, grandfather, I am here! Your own Jil-Bett! Tell me, are you ill?"

She was almost stricken dumb at the sight of the face he turned toward her. It was changed—radiant, with a crimson flush overspreading it. He sprung to his feet with an alacrity that almost took her breath away. Catching her in his arms, he strained her to his breast, sobbing out brokenly and in intense excitement, "Oh, Jil-Bett! This is a great, great day for us! Jil-Bett, my little girl, something so wonderful has happened that I will find it difficult to make you understand or believe it. A miracle has taken place. We are no longer poor and starving! We are rich. Among the best off in Katar tonight.

"It will be for you, little Jil-Bett. They say the old cannot come back, do what they could in their prime; that their usefulness is over. But that is not true. I have come back, child—raised you in a single hour from poverty to riches! I, the old man they have laughed and scoffed at—"

"Stop, granfather!" commanded Jil-Bett, distangling herself with difficulty from his clinging arms. "God pity us both! I see what has happened. The dope has driven you mad at last."

"The dope," echoed Bannock. "I had quite forgotten it, Jil-Bett. I shall take some now, then I shall be more able to tell you the wonderful thing that has happened!"

"The wonderful dreams you have had," she corrected with a bitter sigh, dashing the tears from her eyes. "Come grandfather, forego the dope, and I will make you some strong, fine coffee. So strong it will stir the blood in your veins as though it were wine. Listen to me, dear grandfather—"

He jerked away from her detaining hand angrily, pulling out the drawer of the bench, pointing to the pile of shining gold:

"That does not look much like a dream, does it, girl! You see it is a glorious reality! Touch it, Jil-Bett! Why are you staring at it in that way?"

Jil-Bett caught him by the arm, looking down in horror into his face.

"Where did you get it?" she whispered hoarsely. "How did you come by it! You must answer me!" Very stern was her shrill voice.

"I did not steal it, Jil-Bett."

She shook his arm in great affright. "I am asking you how it came to be here! Who does it belong to? Oh, grandfather, I implore you to keep nothing back from me."

She caught her breath hard, moaning: "We are indeed very poor. There were times when there was not enough for the two of us to eat, and I have gone to bed supperless, hungry, but I never let you know. Through it all we have been honest!"

The old man fell back in a paroxysm of hysterical laughter, intermingled with sobs which he was powerless to control.

Jil-Bett sank down on her knees beside him, weeping the bitterest tears she had ever shed in all her young life. A thousand disturbing thoughts flashed through her mind, and through them all was the one fearful query: How did her grandfather come by that heap of gold?

"You must return that money to its rightful owner," she said decisively. "I will work all my life for you; give you every penny I earn; work as I have never worked before from dawn till dark, but you must promise me to give back that money. If you refuse, I will go forth from your roof, never to return! I can never break bread with a thief!"

The last word stung Daniel Bannock to the heart's core.

"Help me to control myself, Jil-Bett, and I will tell you the whole story. But for the gold, and what I have hidden in my pocket here I, too, would believe it to be the hallucination of a disordered brain—a dream such as come to me when—when—"

She understood but too well.

By degrees the old man regained his composure, unfolding to her the wonderful happening of the day, showing her the contract, and the magnificent stone.

To Jil-Bett it seemed, indeed, like a miracle. Many times she went over the contract, which set forth a thousand dollars in gold had been paid down, and the balance—a fortune—which he was to receive when the work was completed. The wonderful beauty of the ruby fairly took her breath away as she gazed at it in rapt wonder.

She threw her arms about her grandfather's neck, and they wept together from sheer gladness. Then together the old man and the young girl knelt and prayed with hearts full of thanks to God.

They consulted long and earnestly over whether the word MIZPAH could be engraved and so faintly it could not be discernable to the human eye, upon the ruby, without dire results to the jewel.

"It will take a very steady hand, grandfather," said Jil-Bett.

They looked for a moment earnestly into each other's face.

"You mean I shall fail if my hand trembles?" he asked.

She bowed her head in assent.

"I have gone so far on the road, child, I must have a little of the powder. But I pledge you that you shall deal it out to me, and say how much. I could not undertake the work at all if my hand and my nerves got beyond me."

She was sensible enough to realize the truth of his words. Her one thought for months had been whether or not he could break off ultimately if he could but be induced to lessen the amount of dope by degrees. This was a great point gained, that he would allow her to be the custodian of it— dealing it out to him.

Both agreed as to the care with which they must guard their great secret; also, that it was wisest and best for Jil-Bett to keep on with her pearl-diving, that no one might suspect their change of fortune.

This she was most anxious to continue. A new element had crept into the attraction going down into the ocean's depths had always had for her. On the morrow Jack was to take up the occupation and she would be thrown into contact with him continuously.

As they were parting at a late hour that night Jil-Bett was dismayed and greatly worried at hearing her grandfather remark pompously: "I shall take an extra amount tonight to celebrate."

Jil-Bett vetoed this vigorously, and after hours of arguing and pleading by turns both fell fast asleep in their chairs, dead tired.

To Jil-Bett's amazement, her grandfather was astire before her next morning. It did not take her long to discover the reason. One look at his face showed her that he had helped himself most liberally to the product of the poppy.

She immediately took possession of the remainder. Although he watched most cunningly to see where she put it, she hid it where she was sure he would never dream of searching for it—behind the stuffed body of the devil-monster.

A GRIM SIDE TO MARATHON DANCE

Three Persons Collapse and Are Taken to Washington Hospitals, Hysterical.

(Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, April 21.—The grimmer side of America's dancing record vogue loomed up today when three victims, a man and two women were sent to a hospital here after collapsing at the end of about 48 hours dancing in one of the two contests now under way in the capital.

Miss Florence Gentry, 19, one of the victims, collapsed on the floor of one of the dance halls shortly before midnight, last night, and was assisted off, exhausted and hysterical. Examining physicians ordered that she be sent to a hospital. About an hour later, two others, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Mendenhall who had been dancing in the same contest which began Wednesday night, collapsed and were sent to the hospital for observation.

Undismayed by the results of these three participants, six of the original thirty-seven entries in the two contests here, one of them a woman, Mrs. Elsie Weber who established in Baltimore last week what was then a record of fifty-seven hours, were still on their feet today. One of the remaining contestants is Aubrey Gilbert, a marine from Clarksdale, Mass., who was pronounced in "fighting form" by marine officers from the barracks here who examined him last night and told him not to report until he captured the "bacon". Gilbert and his dancing partner, Josef Bolstrosky, former cavalryman, now have the floor to themselves at the larger hall, where twenty-six started.

New Couple Record.

NORFOLK, Va., April 21.—By a margin of six hours, Miss Eleanor S. Taylor, and Charles H. Myers, held the endurance dance record for couples at eight o'clock this morning, having been on the floor continuously for sixty-seven hours. The woman is still going strong and looks fit. Myers is haggard and red-eyed, but goes on grimly and doggedly.

Rev. Smith Tells Of His "Aircycle"

(Special to The Star.)

BROKEN BOW, Neb., April 21.—Rev. Robert B. Smith, inventor of a new air craft which he calls an "Aircycle" gave an interesting address before the Public Service club at the last meeting. Rev. Mr. Smith has a model now nearing completion at the Lowder machine shop. The big advantage of this machine is that it lifts straight up at the start and does away with a landing field. The inventor has worked on the idea seventeen years and during that time seven models have been made. There are twenty-five patents covering various features of the machine.

Six Rescued From Flames

CHICAGO, April 21.—Six persons were carried to safety down ladders by firemen after they had been trapped today by fire in a building in the Chicago loop district. Four girls and two men were at windows of the building screaming for help when firemen reached the building. The girls, about to leap from the fifth floor, were persuaded to wait for ladders to be raised.

The flames started from an explosion of paint stored in the place and were most spectacular. Flames were shooting thirty and forty feet from windows.

Mrs. Irvin Badly Injured By Fall

(Special to The Star.)

WILBER, Neb., April 21.—While about her regular household duties on Thursday morning, Mrs. W. A. Irvin tripped on a rug and fell to the floor. She was unable to get up, but managed to crawl to the phone where she elevated herself on a chair enough to put in a call for the doctor, who rushed to her assistance at once. He called a doctor from Clatonia and together they found that the hip was either dislocated or very badly injured. She was suffering such intense pain that an anesthetic was used so that the examination could be made and it was advised to have her taken to the hospital. The ambulance from St. Elizabeth's hospital at Lincoln came for her early Friday morning.

McFarland Guilty Of Stealing Boy

(Special to The Star.)

TABLE ROCK, Neb., April 21.—A jury in district court at Pawnee City has found A. M. McFarland guilty of kidnaping, the verdict being reached after twenty-four hours' deliberation. The offense of which McFarland has been convicted was committed last fall, it being alleged that the defendant enticed from his home Paul Morris, thirteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Morris of Table Rock. After a wide search the lad was found on a farm in Kansas, more than a hundred miles from his home. He had been left there by McFarland, who was later arrested in Kearney, and who was found to be a paroled convict from the California penitentiary, to which institution he had been committed for an offense similar to the one of which he has just been convicted, it is said. He has not yet been sentenced.

WANT SWIMMING POOL.

(Special to The Star.)

RANDOLPH, Neb., April 21.—There has been some talk of municipal swimming pool for Randolph this summer. It has been suggested that the water used to cool the big light plant engine would furnish an excellent supply for the purpose. The main expense would be the pool itself.

State Dentists Honor Hatfield

(Special to The Star.)

YORK, Neb. April 21.—The Nebraska State Dental association will give a dinner at the McCloud hotel Saturday evening in honor of Dr. T. J. Hatfield who is the oldest dentist in Nebraska. He has been a practitioner in Nebraska for forty-one years. All dental offices in the city will be closed on Saturday afternoon as a testimonial to the honorable service of their fellow practitioner. At the dinner a program of music and speeches will be given. The music will be by local talent. The toast list will be filled by fellow practitioners and local citizens.

A few years ago the dentists of Omaha gave an honor reception to Dr. Hunt of the Omaha dental school who had rounded a long term of service, but aside from that one incident the profession in Nebraska has not before taken official cognizance of the long and honorable service o one of its number and invited riends and neighbors to pay tribute of esteem to his character, his worthy service and his public spirit. There are to be more than one hundred guests in attendance from town in Nebraska besides a large company of local citizens.

SUCCESSFUL TEACHER.

HUMBOLDT, Neb., April 21.—Miss Juanita McCaleb, of Tarkio, Mo., who has spent two successful years in the history department of the Humboldt high school, has been unanimously elected to the department of history in the Nebraska City schools for the coming year.

THE COMMUNITY CHEST

TALK NUMBER THREE

The Budget

The Budget Committee which audited the budgets of all of the thirteen societies represented in the Community Chest is as follows:

W. E. Hardy, Chairman. Mr. Hardy's untiring work in the Red Cross is well known in Lincoln.

Ex-Mayor J. E. Miller, who did so much for the improvement of Lincoln's city parks.

August Eiche, President of the Chamber of Commerce.

George Dayton, City Treasurer.

This committee has audited and approved the budgets for 1923-24 set forth herewith:

Boy Scouts (14 months)	$11,166.60
Campfire Girls	4,200.00
Humane Society	5,065.37
Nebraska Tuberculosis Assn., (10 months)	2,500.00
People's City Mission	3,971.50
Red Cross (6 months)	5,256.05
Social Welfare (7 months)	8,000.00
Society for Friendless	500.00
Y. M. C. A.	29,177.00
Y. W. C. A., (13 months)	22,190.00
St. Vincent de Paul	500.00
Jewish Welfare Society	600.00
Junior League (No money required for 1923.)
Total	$ 94,126.52
Expenses and Surplus	5,873.48
Grand Total	$100,000.00

Heretofore this amount has been contributed by 2500 Lincoln people. It is the plan of the Community Chest committee to have not less than 10,000 Lincoln people represented in the list of contributors. There is no reason why every good citizen, every grown-up and every boy and girl should not be represented with contributions ranging from nickels and dimes upward. The committee has suggested as a basis of annual contribution one day's wage for modest wage earners and one per cent. of salary income for salaried people. Certainly this cannot prove a burden in any instance.

WHEN FRIENDS QUARREL

When President Harding was making his campaign for office in 1920, he devoted a great deal of attention to his proposal for cooperation with the senate. The president said he would call the senate into conference, in fact he proposed "to consult the best minds in this country."

One is able to get a better view of the president's "meeting of minds," when he reads the address of Nathaniel A. Eisberg, of New York City, upon the occasion of Eisberg's re-election as president of the National Republican club. Senators Borah, Johnson, and LaFollette should leave the ranks of the republicans and join the democrats "where they belong," Eisberg told his audience. He was heartily applauded and no one rose to the defense of the senators.

"I want to see the time," Eisberg said, "and that soon, when men who have been elected by republican votes and suported by republican newspapers, and who style themselves republicans, but who at every opportunity assail a republican administration, president and cabinet, are thrown out of the republican party and over into the democratic party, where they belong. I have particular reference to Borah, LaFollette and Johnson."

Here's three of the "bell ringers" in the last campaign who are no longer welcome within the ranks of the republican party. Surely this is rank ingratitude, for no three men played a more potent part in the election of President Harding than Borah, LaFollette and Johnson. Their intense hatred of Woodrow Wilson smothered their deep-seated dislike for the party candidate, and the principles which he advocated, and they were willing to bide their time to even the score with Mr. Harding. It was an unnatural union of factions which swept the republicans into power in 1920, but it has taken less than three years to break the unholy alliance down.

There will be no "meeting of the best minds" in the republican party. Messrs Borah, LaFollette and Johnson, and incidentally Norris and Howell of Nebraska, are as welcome in the councils of the standpat republican leaders as the "boob" who tags along with the fellow and his best girl on a moonlight night. But President Harding and his advisers knew how the country had tired of the feud between Wilson and the three irreconcilables. This stuff about the "meeting of th best minds" sounds good. It didn't uake any particular difference who was in the wrong. Mr. Harding's friends wanted to cash in then on the deadlock, and they did succeed in capitalizing it.

The republican campaign of 1920 is providing embarrassment for the leaders in at least two matters. The bitter condemnation of the league of nations is proving a boomerang for Mr. Harding in his proposal for American participation in the court of international justice. Now comes the long-delayed break between the conservative wing of the party which Mr. Harding represents, and the more liberal elements. There never was a chance for unity of action between the two. Their conception of public responsibility does not follow the same path. It never will.

America will be infinitely better if a clean-cut break occurs. Then she will have an opportunity of passing upon the issues.

BLOT OUT THE SYSTEM.

The Florida house of representatives has voted to abolish corporal punishment in the handling of county convicts, hired out to private contractors to the financial benefit of the state and the prison keepers.

If that is all the Florida legislature is going to do about the matter, Florida deserves to be classed along with other unenlightened commonwealths where the rack the stocks, the boiling oil and other inquisition tortures are symbolic of the public welfare. If the pitiful exposure of the system of hiring out prisoners to private companies who mistreat them, brings no other result than the abolishment of the corporal punishment, there is one member of these United States of which we are woefully ashamed.

It is incredible that this kind of testimony could be given in this nation at this time. Yet we are reliably informed concerning Talbert, who was whipped to death recently in one of these convict camps and whose case has aroused the indignation of the entire country, as follows:

"Talbert's back was a pulpy mass after Higgenbotham had finished beating him with the big leather lash. He bunked with me, (Gardner) and when I and other men in the bunk house helped him get his shirt off, blood poured from half a hundred cuts in his back and he fell over in his bunk in a faint."

He died. Not pretty nor pleasant is it? Not very complimentary to the state where, after an investigation by an official from another state, such a condition was found to exist. Not a system nor a condition that is to be remedied by taking one means of torture from the hands of heartless men who see in human lives, ill-gotten dollars and in prison discipline a chance to vent beastly cruelties.

Not much chance of eliminating cruelty by eliminating one implement of punishment in the hands of such men as described before the legislature. For instance:

"After he had licked me I found out he had mistaken me for a turpentine worker. When he found out he had licked the wrong man he went over and licked all of the eighteen turpentine men in the gang he thought I belonged to."

It is small comfort to know that the man who did the actual whipping is under indictment for murder. The system he represents goes unchecked and unheeded by the Florida legislators. They say nothing about abolishing the antiquated, inhumn nd indefensible system of hiring out convicts to private enterprise. Convicts are not men, they say in effect, but beasts of burden, creatures worth as much to us as we can get out of them. We are not concerned with their moral mental or physical welfare and they are not deserving of the consideration accorded to dumb animals. But they mustn't be whipped.

Fair Florida—be careful that the name doesn't come to be "Blackest Florida."

WAR ON THE SPARROW.

The local humane society is receiving numerous complaints from business houses and residents regarding the great number of pigeons and sparrows that make their homes in the gables and gutters of the city's buildings. The Lincoln hotel declares it costs a hundred dollars and more a month to fight the birds on its one building and many angry home owners have called the society to know how they can humanelybe rid of the two kinds of birds, which are admittedly pests.

The society has no approved method of fighting either sparrows or pigeons. It has no particular interest in either, however, and does not object to efforts to dislodge the birds from their roosts. "If permission can be obtained from the police," they say, "use a small shot gun on them." But they know that the police will not be apt to give permission for any promiscuous shooting within the city limits.

Several have asked if it would be permissible to spread poison for these birds but there the society objects, not on the account of the sparrows and pigeons but because of the danger to other birds and to pets and animals which might eat the poisoned birds. The use of a hose and stretm of water, repeatedly washing out of nests and destrowing of eggs and frequent frightening, are the suggestions made generally and these suggestions together with the assurance that pigeons and sparrows are rated as a nuisance and not as birds to be protected by the humane society, seem to give the angry pigeon hater some satisfaction.

Administering Relief.

LINCOLN, Neb., April 19—To the Editor of the Lincoln Star: Answering the item in your paper recently to the effect that relief for the ex-service men has not been properly distributed by the state department of the American legion auxiliary, it is true most of the relief expended from the state hospital and welfare fund has been given to Bellevue, Omaha and Kearney. First, let me correct one thing. The school called Bellevue is not a hospital and this school contains men from all the four states in the ninth district and does not belong to Omaha any more than to Scottsbluffs. Bellevue is the only ex-service men's institution in the state and the only one of its kind in the United States and we are proud to be able to help it. Word has been sent out repeatedly urging all the units in Nebraska to let us know if they have any ex-service men that need relief. If they do not let the state department know, we have no way of knowing who needs help.

As for Omaha, it is more difficult to get members in a large city where there are so many other organizations to take up their interest, and the needy and sick ex-service men drift into headquarters there by the hundreds. There is only one unit in Omaha and it cannot handle this problem alone.

Many of the units out over the state write that they have no one in their community to help and they the eager to help the larger units.

You will find a few individuals everywhere who always object no matter what is done.

Jil-Bett
Or Stifling Conscience

By LAURA JEAN LIBBEY

The story so far:

Jay Marmaduke Smith, engaged to Clairena Vail, is made drunk at his bachelor's dinner by Edward Thorne; his rival, who starts to take him to Clairena's house. They are held up and Smith is thrown by robbers into an airplane that take him across the ocean and leaves him, senseless, on the Arabian coast at Katar, where Bannock, a gem expert, and his granddaughter, Jil-Bett, live. Liffany's, of New York, had sent their man Staples to find Bannock to engrave a priceless ruby with the word "Mizpah." Staples give the ruby to Bannock to engrave, with a thousand dollars to begin with. Smith had intended the ruby as a gift for Clairena. Jil-Bett discovered the senseless Jay Smith, who, under her care at the hospital, regains consciousness. His memory is gone. Her care of Jay causes great jealousy on the part of an Arab official, Ben-Ali, who wants to marry her. A followere of Ben-Ali is killed by falling on Jil-Bett's dagger in a struggle with her. Ben-Ali, who sees the struggle, tells Jil-Bett he will swear she did it unless she marries him immediately on his return from a trip away. She sees Jay at the hospital and persuades him to become a pearl fisher.

GOOD LUCK FOR BANNOCK.

"Chance will not do the work—
chance sends the breeze.
But if the pilot slumber at the helm,
The very wind that wafts us toward the port
May dash us on the shelves — the steerman's part
Is vigilance, blow it rough—or—smooth."

Bannock was pacing to and fro for the last hour, wondering what was detaining Jil-Bett on this night of all others, when he had such wonderful news to unfold to her. He pondered long and earnestly whether he should go in search of her or wait her coming.

All unconscious of the anxiety of her grandfather on this particular night of all others, Jil-Bett had stopped at the Mudge's on her way home to change the dress she had worn that day to the hospital—a borrowed one from Mrs. Mudge—and to try on one that good woman was making for her to replace the native dress she had always been satisfied with until now.

"I want to have clothes like the wives and daughters of the officials wear," she confided to Mrs. Mudge. "A pretty white cotton, with nice flounces edged in red, and stockings and slippers, instead of bare feet and limbs."

She heard the girl speak so much and so enthusiastically of the handsome stranger at the hospital she redily guessed he was the cause of Jil-Bett's longing to look like the girls in the English colony, and pleasing in his eyes. She was not surprised at this request, indeed, she had been expecting it for some time.

After she had beheld herself in Mrs. Mudge's gown, ill-fitting though it was to her slim figure, Jil-Bett determined never to go back to the old way of garbing herself, when not pearl-diving.

Mrs. Mudge was deft with the needle. She had fashioned from plain cotton sheeting a dress over which the girl went into raptures.

"I copied it from the one that one of the governor's daughters is wearing," she admitted. "I am sure no one will mind; indeed, they are most anxious that the women and young girls of Katar should dress as the people of far-off England do. You will see that they will be very pleased with you in this," holding it up at arm's length for Jil-Bett to admire. "This, with a couple of strands of your pearls, will make you a very beautiful young lady. I should not be surprised if you will want to give up diving next."

"That I can never do," declared Jil-Bett decisively. "You know we are very poor indeed, and we depend upon the money to live since grandfather is no longer able to get anything to do at his trade."

"The life and ability of a diver, either man or woman, is short at the best, Jil-Bett. What will you do when that occupation fails you, dearie?"

"I will do as you are doing, Mrs. Mudge, sew shirts for the natives to support my grandfather and myself."

"You will perhaps end by marrying one of the Arabs, providing Ben-Ali does not force you into a union when he returns."

"Never! Never!" cried Jil-Bett with a shudder. "I will never marry one whom I do not love."

She crept up to Mrs. Mudge, laying her head in her lap.

"Tell me about love, Mrs. Mudge," she whispered. "I want to know if it is true that every girl meets some one man and — and life is never again what it was to her before; and one face is always before her in her dreams, and she would almost give up her life for him—her only great happiness being near him—just being where he is."

"Heaven bless the child," murmured Mrs. Mudge, gathering the girl closer in her arms, "who would have thought such fancies were in her dear little head." Aloud she said. "You never had such ideas until the stranger down at the hospital came into your life, did you?"

Jil-Bett could not, or would not, answer.

"It is not wisest or best for a girl to let her heart go out to a man of whom she knows absolutely nothing," she remarked.

Jil-Bett lifted her face from her lap, looking up into her face. "Now you are talking along the lines that grandfather does. He remembers nothing of love—how should he — he is old, and has forgotten it long, long ago. I have read all the books over in the library — the story of Juliet and Romeo—and—"

The entrance of Mudge cut short the conversation.

"We will resume the conversation the next time you come over, dearie," she whispered as she kissed the girl goodnight.

"Oh, fair young mother, if you were only here with your Jil-Bett you would tell me if it is right or wrong to think so constantly of Jack. Oh, mother! Angel mother! What would I do if he were ever to go away and I should see him no more? Did you have such thoughts about my father?" But the gleaming stars made her no answer.

There was another and quite important matter which troubled Jil-Bett's heart, and which she meant to confide to Mrs. Mudge, and that was that she had heard that one of the governor's beautiful daughters had been visiting the hospital, taking a great interest in her Jack.

Jil-Bett wended her way home, wondering what her grandfather would say when he saw the pretty white dress and heard of her determination to dress like the daughters of the officials, who had clothes sent to them from Paris and London.

She knew she would be upbraided for staying out so late. As she reached the door she was startled by the sound of a sob from within. She entered hurriedly, surprising her grandfather, who was on his knees before the lapidary bench, weeping as men seldom weep in a lifetime.

In the greatest of alarm she ran to his side, crying: "Oh, grandfather, I am here! Your own Jil-Bett! Tell me, are you ill?"

She was almost stricken dumb at the sight of the face he turned toward her. It was changed—radiant, with a crimson flush overspreading it. He sprung to his feet with an alacrity that almost took her breath away. Catching her in his arms, he strained her to his breast, sobbing out brokenly and in intense excitement. "Oh, Jil-Bett! This is a great, great day for us! Jil-Bett, my little girl, something so wonderful has happened that I will find it difficult to make you understand or believe it. A miracle has taken place. We are no longer poor and starving! We are rich. Among the best off in Katar tonight.

"It will be for you, little Jil-Bett. They say the old cannot come back, do what they could in their prime; that their usefulness is over! But that is not true, I have come back, child—raised you in a single hour from poverty to riches! I, the old man they have laughed and scoffed at—"

"Stop, granfather!" commanded Jil-Bett, distangling herself with difficulty from his clinging arms. "God pity us both! I see what has happened. The dope has driven you mad at last."

"The dope," echoed Bannock. "I had quite forgotten it, Jil-Bett. I shall take some now, then I shall be more able to tell you the wonderful thing that has happened!"

"The wonderful dreams you have had," she corrected with a bitter sigh, dashing the tears from her eyes. "Come grandfather, forego the dope, and I will make you some strong, fine coffee. So strong it will stir the blood in your veins as though it were wine. Listen to me, dear grandfather—"

He jerked away from her detaining hand angrily, pulling out the drawer of the bench, pointing to the pile of shining gold:

"That does not look much like a dream, does it, girl! You see it is a glorious reality! Touch it, Jil-Bett! Why are you staring at it in that way?"

Jil-Bett caught him by the arm, looking down in horror into his face.

"Where did you get it?" she whispered hoarsely. "How did you come by it! You must answer me!" Very stern was her shrill voice.

"I did not steal it, Jil-Bett."

She shook his arm in great affright. "I am asking you how it came to be here! Who does it belong to? Oh, grandfather, I implore you to keep nothing back from me."

She caught her breath hard, moaning: "We are indeed very poor. There were times when there was not enough for the two of us to eat, and I have gone to bed supperless, hungry, but I never let you know. Through it all we have been honest!"

The old man fell back in a paroxysm of hysterical laughter, intermingled with sobs which he was powerless to control.

Jil-Bett sank down on her knees beside him, weeping the bitterest tears she had ever shed in all her young life. A thousand disturbing thoughts flashed through her mind, and through them all was the one fearful query: How did her grandfather come by that heap of gold?

"You must return that money to its rightful owner," she said decisively. "I will work all my life for you; give you every penny I earn; work as I have never worked before from dawn till dark, but you must promise me to give back that money. If you refuse, I will go forth from your roof, never to return! I can never break bread with a thief!"

The last word stung Daniel Bannock to the heart's core.

"Help me to control myself, Jil-Bett, and I will tell you the whole story. But for the gold, and what I have hidden in my pocket here I, too, would believe it to be the hallucination of a disordered brain—a dream such as come to me when—when—"

She understood but too well.

By degrees the old man regained his composure, unfolding to her the wonderful happening of the day, showing her the contract, and the magnificent stone.

To Jil-Bett it seemed, indeed, like a miracle. Many times she went over the contract, which set forth a thousand dollars in gold had been paid down, and the balance—a fortune—which he was to receive when the work was completed. The wonderful beauty of the ruby fairly took her breath away as she gazed at it in rapt wonder.

She threw her arms about her grandfather's neck, and they wept together from sheer gladness. Then together the old man and the young girl knelt and prayed with hearts full of thanks to God.

They consulted long and earnestly over whether the word MIZPAH could be engraven and so faintly it could not be discernable to the human eye, upon the ruby, without dire results to the jewel.

"It will take a very steady hand, grandfather," said Jil-Bett.

They looked for a moment earnestly into each other's face.

"You mean I shall fail if my hand trembles?" he asked.

She bowed her head in assent.

"I have gone so far on the road, child, I must have a little of the powder. But I pledge you that you shall deal it out to me, and say how much. I could not undertake the work at all if my hand and my nerves got beyond me."

She was sensible enough to realize the truth of his words. Her one thought for months had been whether or not he could break off ultimately if he could but be induced to lessen the amount of dope by degrees. This was a great point gained, that he would allow her to be the custodian of it— dealing it out to him.

Both agreed as to the care with which they must guard their great secret; also, that it was wisest and best for Jil-Bett to keep on with her pearl-diving, that no one might suspect their change of fortune.

This she was most anxious to continue. A new element had crept into the attraction going down into the ocean's depths had always had for her. On the morrow Jack was to take up the occupation and she would be thrown into contact with him continuously.

As they were parting at a late hour that night Jil-Bett was dismayed and greatly worried at hearing her grandfather remark pompously: 'I shall take an extra amount tonight to celebrate."

Jil-Bett vetoed this vigorously, and after hours of arguing and pleading by turns both fell fast asleep in their chairs, dead tired.

To Jil-Bett's amazement, her grandfather was astire before her next morning. It did not take her long to discover the reason. One look at his face showed her that he had helped himself most liberally to the product of the poppy.

She immediately took possession of the remainder. Although he watched most cunningly to see where she put it, she hid it where she was sure he would never dream of searching for it—behind the stuffed body of the devil-monster.

A GRIM SIDE TO MARATHON DANCE

(Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, April 21.—The grimmer side of America's dancing record vogue loomed up today when three victims, a man and two women were sent to a hospital here after collapsing at the end of about 48 hours dancing in one of the two contests now under way in the capital.

Miss Florence Gentry, 19, one of the victims, collapsed on the floor of one of the dance halls shortly before midnight, last night, and was assisted off, exhaused and hysterical. Examining physicians ordered that she be sent to a hospital. About an hour later, two others, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Mendenhall who had been dancing in the same contest which began Wednesday night, collapsed and were sent to the hospital for observation.

Undismayed by the results of these three participants, six of the original thirty-seven entries in the two contests here, one of them a woman, Mrs. Elsie Weber who established in Baltimore last week what was then a record of fifty-seven hours, were still on their feet today. One of the remaining contestants is Aubrey Gilbert, a marine from Clarksdale, Mass., who was pronounced in "fighting form" by marine officers from the barracks here who examined him last night and told him not to report until he captured the "bacon". Gilbert and his dancing partner, Josef Bolstrosky, former cavalryman, now have the floor to themselves at the larger hall, where twenty-six started.

New Couple Record.

NORFOLK, Va., April 21.—By a margin of six hours, Miss Eleanor S. Taylor, and Charles H. Myers, held the endurance dance record for couples at eight o'clock this morning, having been on the floor continuously for sixty-seven hours. The woman is still going strong and looks fit. Myers is haggard and red-eyed, but goes on grimly and doggedly.

Rev. Smith Tells Of His "Aircycle"

(Spcial to The Star.)

BROKEN BOW, Neb., April 21. — Rev. Robert B. Smith, inventor of a new air craft which he calls an "Aircycle" gave an interesting address before the Public Service club at the last meeting. Rev. Mr. Smith has a model now nearing completion at the Lowder machine shop. The big advantage of this machine is that it lifts straight up at the start and does away with a landing field. The inventor has worked on the idea seventeen years and during that time seven models have been made. There are twenty-five patents covering various features of the machine.

REBEKAH LODGES MEET AT MILFORD

Josephine Vallery of Havelock Is Elected District President.

(Special to The Star.)

MILFORD, Neb., April 21.—The forty-second semi-annual session of the Rebekah district assembly was held at Milford last Tuesday. Riverdale lodge 169 of Milford being the hostess. Six Rescued From Flames

CHICAGO, April 21.—Six persons were carried to safety down ladders by firemen after they had been trapped today by fire in a building in the Chicago loop district. Four girls and two men were at windows of the building screaming for help when firemen reached the building. The girls, about to leap from the fifth floor, were persuaded to wait for ladders to be raised.

The flames started from an explosion of paint stored in the place and were most spectacular. Flames were shooting thirty and forty feet from windows.

Mrs. Irvin Badly Injured By Fall

(Special to The Star.)

WILBER, Neb., April 21.—While about her regular household duties on Thursday morning, Mrs. W. A. Irvin tripped on a rug and fell to the floor. She was unable to get up, but managed to crawl to the phone where she elevated herself on a chair enough to put in a call for the doctor, who rushed to her assistance at once. He called a doctor from Clatonia and together they found that the hip was either dislocated or very badly injured. She was suffering such intense pain that an anesthetic was used so that the examination could be made and it was advised to have her taken to the hospital. The ambulance from St. Elizabeth's hospital at Lincoln came for her early Friday morning.

McFarland Guilty Of Stealing Boy

(Special to The Star.)

TABLE ROCK, Neb., April 21.—A jury in district court at Pawnee City has found A. M. McFarland guilty of kidnaping, the verdict being reached after twenty-four hours' deliberation. The offense of which McFarland has been convicted was committed last fall, it being alleged that the defendant enticed from his home Paul Morris, thirteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Morris of Table Rock. After a wide search the lad was found on a farm in Kansas, more than a hundred miles from his home. He had been left there by McFarland, who was later arrested in Kearney, and who aws found to be a paroled convict from the California penitentiary, to which institution he had been committed for an offense similar to the one of which he has just been convicted, it is said. He has not yet been sentenced.

WANT SWIMMING POOL.

(Special to The Star.)

RANDOLPH, Neb., April 21.—There has been some talk of municipal swimming pool for Randolph this summer. It has been suggested that the water used to cool the big light plant engine would furnish an excellent suppiy for the purpose. The main expense would be the pool itself.

State Dentists Honor Hatfield

(Special to The Star.)

YORK, Neb. April 21.—The Nebraska State Dental association will give a dinner at the McCloud hotel Saturday evening in honor of Dr. T. J. Hatfield who is the oldest dentist in Nebraska. He has been a practitioner in Nebraska for forty-one years. All dental offices in the city will be closed on Saturday afternoon as a testimonial to the honorable service of their fellow practitioner. At the dinner a program of music and speeches will be given. The music will be by local talent. The toast list will be filled by fellow practitioners and local citizens.

A few years ago the dentists of Omaha gave an honor reception to Dr. Hunt of the Omaha dental school who had rounded a long term of service, but aside from that one incident the profession in Nebraska has not before taken official cognizance of the long and honorable service o one of its number and invited riends and neighbors to pay tribute of esteem to his character, his worthy service and his public spirit. There are to be more than one hundred guests in attendance from town in Nebraska besides a large company of local citizens.

SUCCESSFUL TEACHER.

HUMBOLDT, Neb., April 21.—Miss Juanita McCaleb, of Tarkio, Mo., who has spent two successful years in the history department of the Humboldt high school, has been unanimously elected to the department of history in the Nebraska City schools for the coming year.

THE COMMUNITY CHEST

TALK NUMBER THREE

The Budget

The Budget Committee which audited the budgets of all of the thirteen societies represented in the Community Chest is as follows:

W. E. Hardy, Chairman. Mr. Hardy's untiring work in the Red Cross is well known in Lincoln.

Ex-Mayor J. E. Miller, who did so much for the improvement of Lincoln's city parks.

August Eiche, President of the Chamber of Commerce.

George Dayton, City Treasurer.

This committee has audited and approved the budgets for 1923-24 set forth herewith:

Boy Scouts (14 months)	$11,166.60
Campfire Girls	4,200.00
Humane Society	5,065.37
Nebraska Tuberculosis Assn., (10 months)	2,500.00
People's City Mission	3,971.50
Red Cross (6 months)	5,256.05
Social Welfare (7 months)	8,000.00
Society for Friendless	500.00
Y. M. C. A.	29,177.00
Y. W. C. A., (13 months)	23,190.00
St. Vincent de Paul	500.00
Jewish Welfare Society	600.00
Junior League (No money required for 1923.)
Total	$ 94,126.52
Expenses and Surplus	5,873.48
Grand Total	$160,000.00

Heretofore this amount has been contributed by 2500 Lincoln people. It is the plan of the Community Chest committee to have not less than 10,000 Lincoln people represented in the list of contributors. There is no reason why every good citizen, every grown-up and every boy and girl should not be represented with contributions ranging from nickels and dimes upward. The committee has suggested as a basis of annual contribution one day's wage for modest wage earners and one per cent. of salary income for salaried people. Certainly this cannot prove a burden in any instance.

WEEKLY TRADE REVIEW.

NEW YORK, April 21.—(A. P.)—Dun's today said:

It is not surprising that recent weeks have brought a slackening of the domestic business expansion and a check to the rise of prices. Abatement of new buying has become more sharply defined in certain basic industries, as in iron and steel and textiles, and some markets that had advanced appreciably have developed reactionary tendencies. These are not considered disquieting phases because progress had been unusually rapid during the first quarter of the year and it was recognized by close observers that the movement could not continue indefinitely at a record breaking pace. With all previous maximums of production and distribution, a temporary pause, at least was to be expected.

Weekly bank clearings, $7,239,132,000.

GRAIN MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Ill., April 21.

Following a bearish opening grain prices held within narrow channels on the market here today and the closing was irregular. All transactions had a heavy tone. Rains were reported from the dry area of the western wheat belt. Wheat closed ¼ to ⅝c higher. Corn finished ⅛ to ¾c lower. Oats closed ⅛c off to ⅛c up. Trade in provisions was narrow. Lard showed losses of 5 to 3c and ribs from 2 to 5c.

WHEAT—Wheat opened ⅛ to ½c lower, with fairly general commission house selling in a small way. Trade indicated liquidation by small outside holders. Locals also favored the selling side. Buying was scattered.

CORN—Corn opened ¼ to ⅜c lower, with scattered selling and poor support. The volume of business was moderate.

OATS—Oats opened unchanged to ¼c lower. Trade was moderate and buying power was weak.

PROVISIONS—Provisions opened steady to a shade lower with commission house selling in a small way.

Asks Damages From Lakes Commandant

(Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, April 21.—Kidnaped in the south seas and held prisoner while his prison ship, the Sonoma, made various ports in the South Pacific, including Sydney, N. S. W., was the experience of Samuel S. Ripley of Richmond, Cal., according to papers in a $50,000 damage suit filed by him today against Waldo Evans and W. A. MacDonald, of Lake Bluff, Ill.

Evans was formerly governor of the island of Samoa and is now commandant at the Great Lakes naval training station, according to papers in the suit. MacDonald was said to have been Evans' secretary at the time the latter was governor of Samoa.

YOUTHS EXPLAIN THEFTS TO JUDGE

Lincoln Boys Accused of Stealing Appear In Juvenile Court.

The gang of boys taken in custody in connection with the alleged theft of nearly $1,000 worth of radio supplies, guns, pocketbooks, "hot-shot" batteries and other articles appeared before District Judge W. M. Morning in juvenile court Saturday morning. The courtroom was crowded with about 500 men, women and children, it being the largest attendance at a session of the local puvenile court.

Some of the boys are said to be members of prominent Lincoln families.

The "loot" included a $175 radio set, for which one of the boys said he had given another boy $5. A purse containing $28 was stolen from an elevator in a Lincoln department store. Of the proceeds $10 was given to one of the boys as "hush money," but he said he gave most of the amount to other boys who were not connected with the theft to keep them from "squealing" on him. About a dozen boys were involved in the several transactions. Another of the boys connected with the theft of the purse who said he got $10 of the money told the judge he "earned the money "for keeping still."

The hearing was continued Saturday afternoon, when several other boys alleged to have been connected with the thefts were to appear.

Governor Bryan Has Not Named New Secretary

Governor Bryan said Saturday morning that he has not decided whom he will appoint as private secretary to succeed J. H. Broady on May 1, when the latter becomes a district judge of Lancaster county. He gave this reply when asked whether J. R. Farris, who has been office manager for the Commoner, might be named as his secretary at the capitol.

The governor mentioned the fact that during the twenty-two years of the Commoner's existence it has had practically the same staff. W. J. Bryan has been editor all that time, except when he was secretary of state for two years in the Wilson cabinet. During that interval, C. W. Bryan's name appeared as editor.

The paper never required any capital investment, Governor Bryan told newspaper men, as it was started on money advanced by its subscribers, and the receipts were always enough to carry it along. The surplus income, he stated, was invested in bonds when not needed for current expenditures. Whenever it became necessary, bonds were sold and the proceeds applied to keep the business going.

As no corporation was ever formed and no stock issued, whatever remains from the business will simply revert to the Bryans as their personal property. The governor said he did not know what the residue would amount to.

At one time, he declared, the circulation ran up to 275,000. This was about the time W. J. Bryan returned from his world tour in 1906 and for a year or two afterward, when he was a presidential candidate.

The Commoner never owned a printing plant but had its type set and press work done under contract. Largely on this account, it never had any labor troubles.

Three Thousand Acres of Spuds Around Kearney

(Special to The Star.)

KEARNEY, Neb., April 21. — Seventy-five percent of the estimated four thousand acres of spuds in the Kearney district this season have been planted. Practically the whole is sown to Western Nebraska and home grown seed, the proportion of Minnesota seed being small this year. Delay in shipment of the latter is in a measure responsible. Growers report the soil in excellent shape for spring work and the seed of the best.

Cabbage plants, to the number of more than four million, have been set out in the vicinity of Kearney and Gibbon. It is feared that the tender plants have been somewhat damaged by dry south winds, which have prevailed for several days past. Farmers also report some winter wheat fields literally blown out.

JAW IS BROKEN

(Special to The Star.)

BEATRICE, Neb., April 21. — Eugene Stroemer, Barneston farmer, was brought to a hospital Thursday evening suffering with a broken jaw which he received when a wagon load of hay turned over with him on the highway. A piece of timber from the hay rack struck him in the face, cutting him badly and breaking his left jaw.

SUGAR FUTURES HIGHER.

NEW YORK, April 21.—Sugar futures advanced 9 to 20 points at the opening of the market today. An estimated reduction in the Cuban crop from 4,100,000 tons to 3,735,000 tons by H. A. Himely, a leading authority on sugar, and continued strength in the spot market were influencing factors.

HIGH TRIBUNAL RULING FAVORS GUSTIN FIRM

by Lower while acting as its cashier and managing official. Elmelund had formerly owned a controlling interest in the bank and was its president, but had sold out previous to the real estate transaction. The district court held that Lower owed the bank $40,000 or more and that the lots should apply thereon.

Auburn Wins Paving Cases.

Several suits brought by H. R. Rowe, W. H. Bousfield, C. L. Myers and other property owners at Auburn, contesting assessments against their property to pay for street paving, were decided by the district court in favor of the city. The state supreme court sustains the findings of the lower tribunal. It holds that the city had a right to employ special engineers for the paving project.

Veteran Employe Receives Pension

(Special to The Star.)

HILDRETH, Neb., April 21.—Announcement was received here from the headquarters of the Wymore division of the Burlington railway, of the retirement on a pension, of J. H. Ockerman, veteran seventy year old station here. Mr. Ockerman began his service for the road in 1888 as agent at Emmons, Kansas, near Washington, where he remained five years, being transfered to Upland, Neb., in 1893, where he served as agent for four years, whe nhe was assigned to the Palmyra agency. He remained at that place for thirteen years, being sent to Hildreth in 1910, and he has served continuously since. In view of his long service and advanced age the railway retires him on a pension which will amount to about $40 per month and other privileges. It is stated that he will probably make his home in Sioux City, where he has a son publishing the Sioux City Mail. Another son is a Burlington dispatcher at St. Joseph.

BELIEVED HAVE CLARA PHILLIPS

assisted Mrs. Phillips to make her escape, the Los Angels sheriff stated that he will in all probability seek his extradition as an accomplice. Also enmeshed in the affair is the young woman registered at the Honduras hostelry as "Mrs. Carson." Sheriff Traeger said he is unable to account for the presence of the "Mrs. Carson," mentioned in dispatches to the state department as Carson's wife is supposed to be living in a Los Angeles suburb.

Traces Pair's Movements.

(Associated Press.)

LOS ANGELES, April 21.—In discussing reports from Sacramento that Mrs. Clara Phillips, escaped "hammer murderess," and Jesse C. Carson, wanted here on an arson charge, had been located in Honduras, Stewart R. Flintham, county fire warden, in an interview with the Los Angeles Times, today said he thought he could trace practically all of the movements of Mrs. Phillips and Carson since they vanished from Los Angeles.

Flintham said Carson was accused of having set fire to a grocery store he had leased to Walter K. Taylor in Belvidere gardens, a suburb, after he had failed to oust Taylor from the property by other means.

Fire Warden Talks.

The fire warden said he had reasons to believe Phillips and Carson had been close friends and while withholding any information he might have as to how Mrs. Phillips escaped from jail and where she concealed herself, immediately afterward, the officer declared that on the night of December 28, Phillips gave Carson $2,200 to take Mrs. Phillips away and the two planned at the time how the woman and Carson were to leave the country.

Flintham said that in 1913, Sheriff L. L. Cave, of Olathe county, Kansas, offered $25 for the arrest of Carson, who was then accused of cattle stealing but he was not taken into custody.

City Briefs

Put on Parole—Barney Smith, 50, was paroled to George Rogers of the city mission, by Police Judge E. B. Chappell, Saturday morning when Smith pleaded guilty to a charge of intoxication. Smith was ordered to pay the costs.

First Pay Voucher for Smith—State Tax Commissioner W. H. Smith, who took charge of the office a few days ago after the state senate had confirmed his appointment has presented a voucher to the state auditor for 116.66 for salary during the latter part of the month of April, from the 19th to the 30th, inclusive. The retiring tax commissioner, W. H. Osborne, drew $250 pay for April up to and including the 18th. The regular monthly salary is $366.66 or $5,000 a year.

Rail Commissioner at Chicago—Railway Commissioner Browne has gone to Chicago to confer with Interstate Commerce Commissioner Campbell and Examiner Disque in regard to state and interstate rates on live stock affecting Nebraska and neighboring territory. The railroads desire to put into effect a new schedule of uniform rates and thus do away with any advantage Nebraska may still retain from the old Aldrich freight law.

Extradited to Ohio—A writ of extradition has been granted by the governor for the return of A. F. Champion, under arrest at Omaha, to Cleveland, O., for trial on the charge of making a murderous assault.

WEEKLY TRADE REVIEW.

NEW YORK, April 21.—(A. P.)—Dun's today said:

It is not surprising that recent weeks have brought a slackening of the domestic business expansion and a check to the rise of prices. Abatement of new buying has become more sharply defined in certain basic industries, as in iron and steel and textiles, and some markets that had advanced appreciably have developed reactionary tendencies. These are not considered disquieting phases because progress had been unusually rapid during the first quarter of the year and it was recognized by close observers that the movement could not continue indefinitely at a record breaking pace. With all previous maximums of production and distribution, a temporary pause, at least was to be expected.

Weekly bank clearings, $7,239,132,000.

GRAIN MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Ill., April 21.

Following a bearish opening grain prices held within narrow channels on the market here today and the closing was irregular. All transactions had a heavy tone. Rains were reported from the dry area of the western wheat belt. Wheat closed ¼ to ⅝c higher. Corn finished ¼ to ¾c lower. Oats closed ⅛c off to ½c up. Trade in provisions was narrow. Lard showed losses of 5 to 3c and ribs from 2 to 5c.

WHEAT—Wheat opened ⅛ to ½c lower, with fairly general commission house selling in a small way. Trade indicated liquidation by small outside holders. Locals also favored the selling side. Buying was scattered.

CORN—Corn opened ¼ to ⅝c lower, with scattered selling and poor support. The volume of business was moderate.

OATS—Oats opened unchanged to ⅛c lower. Trade was moderate and buying power was weak.

PROVISIONS—Provisions opened steady to a shade lower with commission house selling in a small way.

YOUTHS EXPLAIN THEFTS TO JUDGE

The gang of boys taken in custody in connection with the alleged theft of nearly $1,000 worth of radio supplies, guns, pocketbooks, "hot-shot" batteries and other articles appeared before District Judge W. M. Morning in juvenile court Saturday morning. The courtroom was crowded with about 500 men, women and children, it being the largest attendance at a session of the local juvenile court.

Some of the boys are said to be members of prominent Lincoln families.

The 'loot" included a $175 radio set, for which one of the boys said he had given another boy $5. A purse containing $28 was stolen from an elevator in a Lincoln department store. Of the proceeds $10 was given to one of the boys as "hush money," but he said he gave most of the amount to other boys who were not connected with the theft to keep them from "squealing" on him. About a dozen boys were involved in the several transactions. Another of the boys connected with the theft of the purse who said he got $10 of the money told the judge he "earned the money "for keeping still."

The hearing was continued Saturday afternoon, when several other boys alleged to have been connected with the thefts were to appear.

Governor Bryan Has Not Named New Secretary

Governor Bryan said Saturday morning that he has not decided whom he will appoint as private secretary to succeed J. H. Broady on May 1, when the latter becomes a district judge of Lancaster county. He gave this reply when asked whether J. R. Farris, who has been office manager for the Commoner, might be named as his secretary at the capitol.

The governor mentioned the fact that during the twenty-two years of the Commoner's existence it has had practically the same staff. W. J. Bryan has been editor all that time, except when he was secretary of state for two years in the Wilson cabinet. During that interval, C. W. Bryan's name appeared as editor.

The paper never required any capital investment, Governor Bryan told newspaper men, as it was started on money advanced by its subscribers, and the receipts were always enough to carry it along. The surplus income, he stated, was invested in bonds when not needed for current expenditures. Whenever it became necessary, bonds were sold and the proceeds applied to keep the business going.

As no corporation was ever formed and no stock issued, whatever remains from the business will simply revert to the Bryans as their personal property. The governor said he did not know what the residue would amount to.

At one time, he declared, the circulation ran up to 275,000. This was about the time W. J. Bryan returned from his world tour in 1906 and for a year or two afterward, when he was a presidential candidate.

The Commoner never owned a printing plant but had its type set and press work done under contract. Largely on this account, it never had any labor troubles.

Three Thousand Acres of Spuds Around Kearney

(Special to The Star.)

KEARNEY, Neb., April 21. — Seventy-five percent of the estimated four thousand acres of spuds in the Kearney district this season have been planted. Practically the whole is sown to Western Nebraska and home grown seed, the proportion of Minnesota seed being small this year. Delay in shipment of the latter is in a measure responsible. Growers report the soil in excellent shape for spring work and the seed of the best.

Cabbage plants, to the number of more than four million, have been set out in the vicinity of Kearney and Gibbon. It is feared that the tender plants have been somewhat damaged by dry south winds, which have prevailed for several days past. Farmers also report some winter wheat fields literally blown out.

JAW IS BROKEN

(Special to The Star.)

BEATRICE, Neb., April 21. — Eugene Stroemer, Barneston farmer, was brought to a hospital Thursday evening suffering with a broken jaw which he received when a wagon load of hay turned over with him on the highway. A piece of timber from the hay rack struck him in the face, cutting him badly and breaking his left jaw.

SUGAR FUTURES HIGHER.

NEW YORK, April 21.—Sugar futurs advanced 9 to 20 points at the opening of the market today. An estimated reduction in the Cuban crop from 4,100,000 tons to 3,735,000 tons by H. A. Himely, a leading authority on sugar, and continued strength in the spot market were influencing factors.

HIGH TRIBUNAL RULING FAVORS GUSTIN FIRM

by Lower while acting as its cashier and managing official. Elmelund had formerly owned a controlling interest in the bank and was its president, but had sold out previous to the real estate transaction. The district court held that Lower owed the bank $40,000 or more and that the lots should apply thereon.

Auburn Wins Paving Cases.

Several suits brought by H. R. Rowe, W. H. Bousfield, C. L. Myers and other property owners at Auburn, contesting assessments against their property to pay for street paving, were decided by the district court in favor of the city. The state supreme court sustains the findings of the lower tribunal. It holds that the city had a right to employ special engineers for the paving project.

Veteran Employe Receives Pension

(Special to The Star.)

HILDRETH, Neb., April 21.—Announcement was received here from the headquarters of the Wymore division of the Burlington railway, of the retirement on a pension, of J. H. Ockerman, veteran seventy year old station here. Mr. Ockerman began his service for the road in 1888 as agent at Emmons, Kansas, near Washington, where he remained five years, being transfered to Upland, Neb., in 1893, where he served as agent for four years, whe nhe was assigned to the Palmyra agency. He remained at that place for thirteen years, being sent to Hildreth in 1910, and he has served continuously since. In view of his long service and advanced age the railway retires him on a pension which will amount to about $40 per month and other privileges. It is stated that he will probably make his home in Sioux City, where he has a son publishing the Sioux City Mail. Another son is a Burlington dispatcher at St. Joseph.

assisted Mrs. Phillips to make her escape, the Los Angels sheriff stated that he will in all probability seek his extradition as an accomplice. Also enmeshed in the affair is the young woman registered at the Honduras hostelry as "Mrs. Carson." Sheriff Traeger said he is unable to account for the presence of the "Mrs. Carson," mentioned in dispatches to the state department as Carson's wife is supposed to be living in a Los Angeles suburb.

Traces Pair's Movements.

(Associated Press.)

LOS ANGELES, April 21.—In discussing reports from Sacramento that Mrs. Clara Phillips, escaped "hammer murderess," and Jesse C. Carson, wanted here on an arson charge, had been located in Honduras, Stewart R. Flintham, county fire warden, in an interview with the Los Angeles Times, today said he thought he could trace practically all of the movements of Mrs. Phillips and Carson since they vanished from Los Angeles.

Flintham said Carson was accused of having set fire to a grocery store he had leased to Walter K. Taylor in Belvidere gardens, a suburb, after he had failed to oust Taylor from the property by other means.

Fire Warden Talks.

The fire warden said he had reasons to believe Phillips and Carson had been close friends and while withholding any information he might have as to how Mrs. Phillips escaped from jail and where she concealed herself, immediately afterward, the officer declared that on the night of December 28, Phillips gave Carson $2,200 to take Mrs. Phillips away and the two planned at the time how the woman and Carson were to leave the country.

Flintham said that in 1913, Sheriff L. L. Cave, of Olathe county, Kansas, offered $25 for the arrest of Carson, who was then accused of cattle stealing but he was not taken into custody.

City Briefs

Put on Parole—Barney Smith, 50, was paroled to George Rogers of the city mission, by Police Judge E. B. Chappell, Saturday morning when Smith pleaded guilty to a charge of intoxication. Smith was ordered to pay the costs.

First Pay Voucher for Smith—State Tax Commissioner W. H. Smith, who took charge of the office a few days ago after the state senate had confirmed his appointment has presented a voucher to the state auditor for 116.66 for salary during the latter part of the month of April, from the 19th to the 30th, inclusive. The retiring tax commissioner, W. H. Osborne, drew $250 pay for April up to and including the 18th. The regular monthly salary is $366.66 or $5,000 a year.

Rail Commissioner at Chicago—Railway Commissioner Browne has gone to Chicago to confer with Interstate Commerce Commissioner Campbell and Examiner Disque in regard to state and interstate rates on live stock affecting Nebraska and neighboring territory. The railroads desire to put into effect a new schedule of uniform rates and thus do away with any advantage Nebraska may still retain from the old Aldrich freight law.

Extradited to Ohio—A writ of extradition has been granted by the governor for the return of A. F. Champion, under arrest at Omaha, to Cleveland, O., for trial on the charge of making a murderous assault.

LIFE AND CHARACTER READING.

People born on this date come under the sign of Taurus. People born on this date are not comfortable people to live with when unawakened and undeveloped. They roar and kick under the slightest provocation, and at such times have no regard for feelings of furniture.

People born under this sign should practice silence and patience as a daily exercise. They should never talk of self, and should school the mind to look upon the opposite sex so as never to be lost in sex passion.

The governing planet of this date is Venus, the goddess of love, and the birthstone is a moss agate.

The union of those born under Taurus and Capricorn should be harmonious, and the children of these signs physically strong and robust. Next come Taurus and Libra. This also is a very happy combination.

LIFE AND CHARACTER READING.

People born on this date come under the sign of Taurus. People born on this date are not comfortable people to live with when unawakened and undeveloped. They roar and kick under the slightest provocation, and at such times have no regard for feelings of furniture.

People born under this sign should practice silence and patience as a daily exercise. They should never talk of self, and should school the mind to look upon the opposite sex so as never to be lost in sex passion.

The governing planet of this date is Venus, the goddess of love, and the birthstone is a moss agate.

The union of those born under Taurus and Capricorn should be harmonious, and the children of these signs physically strong and robust. Next come Taurus and Libra. This also is a very happy combination.

EGG RECEIPTS AT NELIGH ARE HIGH

Amount to Thousands Of Dollars In a Single Spring Month.

(Special to The Star)

NELIGH, Neb., April 21.—Some figures regarding the quantities of eggs shipped out of this city each month were collected this week. The various local dealers reported their shipments during the last four weeks as 18,510 dozen and the average price paid producers during the month was 20 1-2 cents per dozen. At this price the eggs shipped out by Neligh merchants brought into the county $3,794.55.

This does not aken into account the large quantity of eggs the merchants sold to their local trade or those consumed in the families of the producers, nor does it take into account the sales of poultry. This is only the record of Neligh merchants and with shipments in other towns in the county it mounts high in receipts from this source. Egg production during the month last past is neither the high nor low point of the season in amount but the price per dozen is pretty near, if not quite the low mark.

These shipments represent nothing of jobbers who ship in from neighboring territory, but just the eggs that are brought in to local merchants from the farms surrounding Neligh.

Sons of Veterans Camp Is Organized

(Special to The Star)

NELIGH, Neb., April 21.—A camp of Sons of Verans was organized in this city this week by Bert Monlédge, state division commander; Geo. N. Still, senior vice commander, and Frank Mills, division chaplain. It was named D. C Bliss camp No. 15, in honor of the late D. C. Bliss, who was the moving spirit in bringing it into being. In fact work to this end was the prime objective of his trip which proved his last early journey.

The camp was organized with fifteen charter members, and the following were elected officers: Chester A. Hackett, commander; Howard Kester, senior vice commander; E. E. Reynolds, junior vice commander, A. G. Howell, secretary; James A Sutton, treasurer; C. A. Snider, patriotic instructor; W. C. Graves, chaplain. After the initiation services a banquet was served.

Many of the numbers selected are the same as those which will be staged at the Epworth assembly this season. A large new tent and comfortable chairs will be a great inducement for the people to attend.

Flames From Burning Oil Plant Shoot High Into the Air.

(Special to The Star.)

ALLIANCE, Neb., April 21.—Fire of an unknown origin caused a $10,000 loss to the buildings, stock and mechanical equipment of the Mutual Oil company's warehouse on Cheyenne avenue at midnight Thursday.

The effective work of the Alliance volunteer fire department saved adjoining properties, including the Nolan company's offices and warehouses, the Alliance creamery, the city light plant and the Burlington freight depot.

Flames shot into the air during the fire to a height of one hundred feet and there were several minor explosions.

The big gasoline storage tank containing 7,800 gallons of gasoline was in the center of the fire but the gas passed through the vents and the tank did not explode. Gasoline shot out through a broken pipe in the warehouse and the yard was a mass of floating flame.

Snow and rain were falling during the fire which helped to keep it from spreading in spite of a very high wind.

Selling Lincoln to Lincoln

"Miss Seldon," said Virginia Levy and Merna Jackson, two of the high school seniors, at the close of class one afternoon, "are you going to try out for a part in Della from Lincoln?"

"O, in the home talent movie? No, I hadn't thought of it."

"Merna and I want to go and try out after school today, but we can't get up the nerve to go. I was wondering if you would go with us. We would love to have you."

"And you would be much more likely to get a place than either of us," said Virginia.

"I am afraid you girls are flattering me," said Jane. "I really don't care to try out, but I should love to go with you."

When Jane and the two girls reached the theater lobby that afternoon a large crowd was there ahead of them. They were lined up waiting their turn, and in spite of the fact that some of them had been waiting a long time they all seemed to be having a grand time. Many of them were well acquainted and they considered the whole thing a huge joke.

A wiry little man who turned out to be the director ran out and stopped a group of young people who were just leaving. He jumped around excitedly and made many fantastic motions as he talked to them. It seemed that he was seriously considering placing one or two of them in the cast and wanted them to wait a while. He rushed back to the office door and motioned another group in.

Word was circulated around that the leading man and some of the other characters wereas good as decided upon but that the director was still searching for the leading lady and a couple of minor characters. The leading lady, of course, would have to be very beautiful, but aside from that no one knew just what her qualifications must be.

The wiry little director worked rapidly and it seemed that he was shoving people in and out the door all the time, but nobody satisfied him. The time passed rather quickly for the gay, chattering crowd of youngsters, and soon it was Merna and Virginia's turn.

"I'll wait for you," said Jane as the director motioned them in.

"No, you won't," he said. "I want you to come in too."

"But I am not going to try out," she protested.

By that time she was inside and the door was closed.

"I want you for the leading lady," the director said. "I have been noticing you in the lobby, and you have wonderful features for the screen. Good eyes are what we must have for the screen. Your eyes are large, prominent, expressive."

All the time he talked Jane kept thinking that he would make a good comedian. He was constantly jumping about and talking vociferously.

"Mr. Allendale is to be the leading man," he said. "You know him? You are especially adapted to play against him. No, he didn't try out, but he's an old friend of mine. Buddies in the army. It was this way, see (motioning all the time). He has popularity, good looks, intelligence. Just what we want for leading man in local talent movie.

"'Can't do it. Haven't time,' he said.

"'You've got to do it,' I said, and he agreed to it."

Jane opened her mouth to protest that she didn't have time, but she couldn't get a word in anywhere.

"I know what you are going to say. You teach school. You are busy. Yes, I found out all about you before you came in. That's all right. Take pictures after school. Be here at 4 o'clock tomorrow."

He pushed them out the door. "Good-bye."

I. Anderson, Manager of Kinney's Says People Want Novelty Shoes

A good, steady business in shoes and hosiery was reported by I. Anderson, manager of the local Kinney store. He said that shoe stores are doing a larger business in hosiery now than they used to. It seems that people are forming the habit of buying their hosiery where they buy their shoes instead of going to other stores for them.

The sale of shoes has received an impetus from the fad for light colors. Mr. Anderson has been with the Kinney company for four years and he said he had never known a time when there was such a demand for shoes of the different colors as there is right now. The light fawn and the biege, especially in the suedes, are especially popular, and anything that is novel has a ready sale. University girls are particularly fond of novelty shoes. The fad for novelties has increased the sale of shoes. Mr. Anderson said that the dealer with a good stock of novelty shoes is getting the business, but the staple lines are dead.

The Kinney store plans to start putting in a Unit front next week so that it will have a better place to display the shoes. There will be a fountain in the lobby.

EGG RECEIPTS AT NELIGH ARE HIGH

Amount to Thousands Of Dollars In a Single Spring Month.

(Special to The Star)

NELIGH, Neb., April 21.—Some figures regarding the quantities of eggs shipped out of htis city each month were collected this week. The various local dealers reported their shipments during the last four weeks as 18,510 dozen and the average price paid producers during the month was 20 1-2 cents per dozen. At this price the eggs shipped out by Neligh merchants brought into thte county $3,794.55.

This does not aken into account the large quantity of eggs the merchants sold to their local trade or those consumed in the families of the producers, nor does it take into account the sales of poultry. This is only the record of Neligh merchants and with shipments in other towns in the county it mounts high in receipts from this source. Egg production during the month last past is neither the high nor low point of the season in amount but the price per dozen is pretty near, if not quite the low mark.

These shipments represent nothing of jobbers who ship in from neighboring territory, but just the eggs that are brought in to local merchants from the farms surrounding Neligh.

When Jane and the two girls reached the theater lobby that afternoon a large crowd was there ahead of them. They were lined up waiting their turn, and in spite of the fact that some of them had been waiting a long time they all seemed to be having a grand time. Many of them were well acquainted and they considered the whole thing a huge joke.

A wiry little man who turned out to be the director ran out and stopped a group of young people who were just leaving. He jumped around excitedly and made many fantastic motions as he talked to them. It seemed that he was seriously considering placing one or two of them in the cast and wanted them to wait a while. He rushed back to the office door and motioned another group in.

Word was circulated around that the leading man and some of the other characters wereas good as decided upon but that the director was still searching for the leading lady and a couple of minor characters. The leading lady, of course, would have to be very beautiful, but aside from that no one knew just what her qualifications must be.

The wiry little director worked rapidly and it seemed that he was shoving people in and out the door all the time, but nobody satisfied him. The time passed rather quickly for the gay, chattering crowd of youngsters, and soon it was Merna and Virginia's turn.

"I'll wait for you," said Jane as the director motioned them in.

"No, you won't," he said, "I want you to come in too."

"But I am not going to try out," she protested.

By that time she was inside and the door was closed.

"I want you for the leading lady," the director said. "I have been noticing you in the lobby, and you have wonderful features for the screen. Good eyes are what we must have for the screen. Your eyes are large, prominent, expressive."

All the time he talked Jane kept thinking that he would make a good comedian. He was constantly jumping about and talking vociferously.

"Mr. Allendale is to be the leading man," he said. "You know him? You are especially adapted to play against him. No, he didn't try out, but he's an old friend of mine. Buddies in the army. It was this way, see (motioning all the time). He has popularity, good looks, intelligence. Just what we want for leading man in local talent movie.

"'Can't do it. Haven't time,' he said.

"'You've got to do it,' I said, and he agreed to it."

Jane opened her mouth to protest that she didn't have time, but she couldn't get a word in anywhere.

"I know what you are going to say. You teach school. You are busy. Yes, I found out all about you before you came in. That's all right. Take pictures after school. Be here at 4 o'clock tomorrow."

He pushed them out the door. "Good-bye."

I. Anderson, Manager of Kinney's Says People Want Novelty Shoes

A good, steady business in shoes and hosiery was reported by I. Anderson, manager of the local Kinney store. He said that shoe stores are doing a larger business in hosiery now than they used to. It seems that people are forming the habit of buying their hosiery where they buy their shoes instead of going to other stores for them.

The sale of shoes has received an impetus from the fad for light colors. Mr. Anderson has been with the Kinney company for four years and he said he had never known a time when there was such a demand for shoes of the different colors as there is right now. The light fawn and the biege, especially in the suedes, are especially popular, and anything that is novel has a ready sale. University girls are particularly fond of novelty shoes. The fad for novelties has increased the sale of shoes. Mr. Anderson said that the dealer with a good stock of novelty shoes is getting the business, but the staple lines are dead.

The Kinney store plans to start putting in a Unit front next week so that it will have a better place to display the shoes. There will be a fountain in the lobby.
